LOWERING OF S. P. TRACKS GLENDALE'S PROPOSAL

Recommend State Railroad Commission Make Survey Of Crossings Here

Standing definitely in opposition to the plan of the Los Angeles County Grade Crossing commission, that has the support of the Southern Pacific Co., the Glendale City Council today adopted recommendations for a lowering of the grade of the Southern Pacific main line tracks their entire distance within the city limits and the construction of overhead crossings at various points.

The recommendation will be submitted at once to the State Railroad commission with a resolution, also adopted today, petitioning the state body to make a survey of grade crossing conditions and to order such separation of grades as are required. The resolution will be submitted jointly by Glendale and Los Angeles.

The resolution asking the survey by the State Railroad commission was approved last Monday night by the City Planning commission, and was submitted to the council by Councilman S. C. Kinch.

Recommendation for the lowering of the track grade and the building of overhead crossings is based on a preliminary survey completed by City Engineer J. P. Johansson. By that method, it is claimed, grade separation can be obtained at a fraction of the cost that subways would require, and property damage is reduced to a minimum.

Ask for Subways
The County Grade Crossing commission and the Southern Pacific favors building of subways, the one at Los Feliz road to cost, including property damage, about $500,000. The Brand boulevard crossing would cost approximately the same amount, it is estimated. Petition asking for a survey and recommending the survey plan has already been submitted to the State Railroad commission by the City Planning commission. City Attorney Ray L. Morrow was also instructed by the council at today's session to file a petition with the railroad commission for the opening of Kenilworth drive over the Pacific Electric tracks in Glendale. The

HINDENBURG HAS ENVOYS GREETING

Diplomatic Corps Received By German President; U. S. Agent There

BERLIN, May 14.—President Hindenburg today received the congratulations of the diplomatic corps. Warren D. Robins, American attaché d'affaires was seated in the semi-circle with other envoys at the reception at the president's palace when Papi Nuncio Paicelli, in a brief speech, congratulated the new president.

Hindenburg thanked the diplomatic corps and expressed the hope that Germany "with God's help, would get back on her feet." Then the old soldier shook hands with each of the envoys. Paicelli voiced the congratulations of the envoys.

"We are glad to convey to your excellency our congratulations," he said. "We are animated by the wish that under your wise leadership the German nation will bring to flourish not only its material welfare, but treasures of a higher order which are the surest guarantee of civilization and the progress of human society."

"We hope under your guidance the German state will consolidate its relations with other nations for the triumph of the great cause of world peace. I ask heavenly blessings on your German nation."

Thousands of Race Patrons At Louisville

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 14.—Today the stream of visitors coming to this city for the fifty-first running of the Kentucky Derby next Saturday began to rise to the flood stage it will reach by tomorrow night.

Every hotel in the city is already filled to capacity. Guests who took rooms with the understanding that they would give them up today so that others who had already reserved them for the derby period might move in, are seeking accommodations in private houses. And everybody is now at work trying to do out the winner of the big race. The consensus is that picking this year is going to be a tough job.

In trying to do out the winners of horse races, men engage in the most popular form of constant human endeavor—the effort to make certainty out of what, because of its nature, must forever remain uncertainty.

THREE TRAINMEN KILLED IN WRECK

Fast Pennsylvania Express Train Is Derailed At Dupont, Illinois

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., May 14.—Three trainmen were killed and five others injured when the fast eastbound Pennsylvania passenger train No. 6, a double header, was derailed at Dupont, Ill., 35 miles west of here today.

The dead: Engineers George Munch and Daniel Walsh and Fireman Edward Zimmerman. The injured included three mail clerks, an express messenger, and E. W. Harper, second fireman. No passengers were reported injured.

Both engines left the rails and turned over, followed by three mail and baggage cars. Cause of the derailment had not been officially determined, executives of the Pennsylvania line, announced.

WOMAN LEAPS TO DEATH IN OCEAN

Unidentified Victim Wore Wedding Ring; Was Richly Dressed

SAN RAFAEL, Cal., May 14.—The coroner's office here today was attempting to identify the body of an auburn-haired young woman who, according to the police, leaped from the Corinthian Yacht club pier in Sausalito, near here, into San Francisco bay late last night and was drowned before spectators could go to her rescue. The young woman, about 30, was fashionably dressed, and wore a wrist watch engraved with the letters "E. A." A platinum wedding ring on her finger bore the inscription "G. to E., 1924."

Opera Singer 'Fired' When Saliva Flows

LONDON, May 14.—For conduct "unbecoming a singer," Madame Maria Olzewaska, Polish singer, has been dismissed by the management of the State opera house in Vienna, according to advices received today. She spat at Marie Jeritza, Austrian diva, during a performance.

Madame Olzewaska is said to have called Jeritza "a dumb goose" and then aimed a flow of saliva at her. Jeritza complained Olzewaska was jealous of her. The management's dismissal will stand unless she apologizes, it was said.

FRENCH DRIVE BACK RIFFS WITH LOSS

Wide Stretch Of Moroccan Territory Regained In Surprise Attack

RABAT, French Morocco, May 14.—The French attack under Marshal Lyautey today had driven the Riffs from a wide stretch of territory in the Bibane region, Bibane heights falling before the thrust of the French infantry attack.

The thrust was made in a thorough manner, artillery clearing the way with a heavy barrage before the airplane protected infantry swept forward.

A stubborn resistance was met, but a heavier toll of the tribesmen than of the French troops was taken and when the attack was concluded all but two of the isolated French outposts had been reached by Marshal Lyautey's troops.

French Lose Heavily
TETUAN, Morocco, May 14.—A foreboding calm characterized the Spanish and French Moroccan situation today as France prepared for a monster drive against the 22,000 Riff tribesmen who have been battling to reach and capture the important city of Fez. From authoritative sources came information that the French had "suffered severe reverses" to their 30,000 men and that "further reinforcements were being rushed from southern France."

A dispatch from Rabat said French reinforcements had arrived there and preparations were under way "to repulse the besiegers from several positions."

Relief Arrives
PARIS, May 14.—The foreign office announced today that French troops fighting against the Riff tribesmen had relieved all besieged French blockhouses except two near Bibane.

MERGER 'VICTIMS' REHEARSE STORY

More Than Score Prominent People At Grand Jury Hearing Of Brokers

LOS ANGELES, May 14.—More than a score of witnesses, most of them investors in the asserted $6,000,000 railway merger scheme of Thomas Hennessey and Harry Hibbs, "ten-for-one" brokers, appeared in the ante-chamber of the grand jury room today prepared to testify regarding their knowledge of the spectacular business operations of the arrested brokers.

County Supervisor Frank E. Woodley was one of the witnesses called, it was learned. Other witnesses were among the investors, a list of whom was found in a black book uncovered by the authorities in Hennessey's possession. This list included Woodley, who invested, it was said, $31,000; Judge Ray Jesebro, former police judge, who invested $5,000; John Griffith Wray, motion picture director, $5,000; James McLachlan, former California congressman, $10,000; R. R. Pollock, $5,000, and John Brokaw, capitalist, and original complainant against the brokers, $10,000.

Missing Prisoner Is Found In Jail Yard

SAN QUENTIN, May 14.—Louis J. Harris, convict from San Mateo county, missing since early yesterday from the state prison here, was recaptured today. Prison guards found Harris crouching under a pile of old lumber in what is known as the "old baseball yard." He had failed to escape the prison enclosure and evidently was waiting for the search within the prison walls to die down before making his break for liberty.

AUTHOR OF 60 BOOKS DIES IN LONDON

Sir Henry Rider Haggard Expires After Long Public Career

LONDON, May 14.—Sir Henry Rider Haggard, the author, died here today.

Haggard was 69 years old. He began his political career in 1875 as secretary to Sir Henry Bulwer, governor of Natal. He served on a great many government commissions, among which were the commission to the Transvaal in 1877, the government special commission to report on Salvation Army settlements, U. S. A., in 1907, and the reclamation and the unemployed labor committee of the royal commission on coast erosion and reforestation in 1908-1911. Haggard also traveled around the world as a member of the dominion's royal commission from 1912 to 1917.

Rider Haggard was the author of more than sixty books, most of them novels of adventure, with a few texts of a sociological nature.

"King Solomon's Mines," published in 1885, was the most famous of his works, although he was noted also as the author of "She," "The World's Desire," "The People of the Mist," "The Witch's Head," "The Way of the Spirit," and "The Ghost Kings."

His first book was published in 1882 and his period of active writing extended over more than two score years, his novel "The Monster" being published last year. In this time he was amazingly prolific, publishing as many as three novels a year, in addition to his activities for the empire. He was considered an authority on empire migration, agriculture and sociology.

Great Britain Not To Call Any Arms Parley

LONDON, May 14.—A call for disarmament conferences cannot be expected from Great Britain, said Premier Baldwin in the House of Commons today. Answering a labor member's question he said:

"The question of disarmament is now under consideration by the League of Nations. I do not think it desirable for Great Britain to take the initiative of summoning a disarmament conference now."

TOWN WIPED OUT

GLEN FALLS, N. Y., May 14.—Fire today wiped out most of the business section of the town of Ausable Forks, causing a loss of between $400,000 and $500,000.

MEADOWS INDICTED IN BOND DEAL

LOS ANGELES, May 14.—Rush Meadows, said to be a former Kentucky state official, was indicted here today by the federal grand jury on charges of conspiracy to possess and alter registered Liberty bonds stolen from a Richmond, Neb., bank. Secret service agents reported $21,000 worth of alleged altered bonds were found in Meadows' Los Angeles home.

MANN ACT SUSPECT PLEADS GUILTY

LOS ANGELES, May 14.—Appearing before a jury here today for his second trial on charges of transporting Bessie Pritchett, St. Louis girl, from the Missouri city to Los Angeles, in violation of the Mann act, Fred J. Brown, son of C. D. Brown, former mayor of Rochester, Minn., changed his plea of not guilty to guilty and asked probation. It was indicated probation would be ordered, with Brown agreeing to marry Miss Pritchett.

LEAGUE RIDICULES ARMS RUMORS

GENEVA, May 14.—League officials today ridiculed rumors that the League of Nations would permit the arms conference to follow the American suggestion that the conference be divorced from the league's auspices. It was expected that Theodore E. Burton, chairman of the American delegation, would propose tomorrow or Saturday that a committee be formed to publish statistics on the traffic in arms. League member nations and non-members would be represented.

Another Row Kicked Up In Board by Ford

WASHINGTON, May 14.—The proposal of Chairman T. V. O'Connor of the United States Shipping Board to sell 400 of the government wartime ships to Henry Ford kicked up another row today among members of the board.

Various shades of opinion were expressed, one of the most outspoken members being Commissioner F. I. Thompson, who declared that the government should not sell the ships to Ford or anyone else.

"For a long time," Thompson said, "certain American owners and operators of foreign flagships have been urging the destruction of a large portion of government ships. But none of the surplus ships of other countries are being destroyed, nor has such been proposed."

"Obviously it would be greatly to the marine interest of foreign nations for the United States to destroy one-third of its fleet of ships."

"As yet, I have seen no sound reasons advanced why the United States, of all nations, should weaken its naval auxiliary and economic position in world trade and stand alone in a program to remove surplus ship tonnage."

STUDENTS DYING AFTER CAR WRECK

Machine Overtakes In Ditch On Skyline Boulevard With Party Of Six

SAN FRANCISCO, May 14.—Two high school students were in serious condition today and four others were recovering from serious injuries as the result of an automobile accident late last night when the machine in which they were driving overturned in a ditch on the Skyline boulevard, near Colma road, south of San Francisco.

Donald Muller, 17, of this city, and Jack Thorpe, 18, of Palo Alto, received severe internal injuries. It was feared they may die.

The other occupants of the car were: George Oppenheim, 17, San Mateo; Miss Mary Vokes, 13, San Francisco; Miss Wilma Pinkston, 15, San Francisco, and Miss Ruth Patten, 15, San Francisco.

7 PERSONS KILLED

LOS ANGELES, May 14.—Seven persons were killed and seventeen were injured when a passenger train bound for Sebej from Moscow, was wrecked, a dispatch from Moscow today said.

TWO BANDITS USE THREE AUTOS IN ESCAPE

Finally Abandon Car and Hide in Lodging House; Expect Gun Fight

SACRAMENTO, May 14.—A house-to-house search of a score of rooming houses in the vicinity of Seventh, J and K streets was in progress this afternoon for Joe Tanko and Floyd Hall, escaped San Quentin bandits, with the possibility that their discovery would end in a gun battle to death.

A third car stolen today by the two bandits was found abandoned in front of the Sacramento post-office on Seventh street between J and K. This section contains the lodging house in which Tanko and Hall lay safely hidden for days after they reached this city following their spectacular prison break.

Police believed that the two bandits falling in their mountain dash had returned to their old haunts and are now hidden in one of these houses. Posses for the house to house search were quickly organized.

Tanko and Hall, escaped San Quentin convicts whose mad flight had engrossed the attention of searching officers for the past month, continued their dare devil escapes from apprehension.

Abandoning the second automobile they had stolen today at Seventh and H street, three blocks from the city police station, Tanko and Hall stole another car and fled in it.

While the entire city police force, augmented by scores of deputy sheriffs patrolled the streets, the bandits apparently had been driving around in the lower business section. The second car stolen was owned by H. A. Schroeder. The first car stolen belonged to H. A. Hansen.

Tanko and Hall overturned in the first stolen car on the outskirts of Sacramento today, according to a report flashed to police headquarters by the telephone operator at the county hospital. Fifty men were immediately rushed to the scene of the accident.

The two desperadoes, who stole a light car two miles north of Auburn after binding and gagging its owners, sped in to Sacramento. Near the county hospital the car overturned and struck another car owned by E. A. Labord. The two hunted men, apparently unhurt in the crash, leaped from the wrecked machine and fled through alleys and across the back yard of D. J. Dunkhorst. They were seen by Mrs. Dunkhorst, who telephoned the police.

Across the street, at 2957 Forty-third street, they encountered H. Hansen, a mechanic, washing his automobile. One of them produced a gun, thrust it against the ribs of Hansen and ordered him to enter the machine and "drive like hell."

Hansen complied and for fifteen minutes he drove them about town. At Thirtieth and G streets the speeding car ran down a woman. Hansen wanted to stop but at the point of the gun they forced him to drive on.

At Thirtieth and H streets the two bandits threw Hansen out of the car, and one of them took the wheel and drove down Thirtieth street towards K street, which is in the heart of the downtown district.

AUTO FATALITIES

ROME, May 14.—Two Germans were killed, four were injured, including Maurice Lowenthal, an American tourist, when the automobile carrying American tourists and German pilgrims was wrecked near Avezzo, Italy, today. Physicians said Lowenthal would recover.

'Dry' Sleuths Set Trap for Rum Runners

LOS ANGELES, May 14.—Mobilizing his forces for a drive to halt the flood of imported liquors from the rum fleet anchored off San Clemente island, Prohibition Field Agent Roy S. Adams this afternoon began a heavy concentration of dry officers along the coast line in expectation of a decisive test of strength with the liquor smugglers tonight.

Sixty officers from the Los Angeles police department, with deputy sheriffs and constables from various Southern California points, took up positions in readiness for an impending war with rum runners reported to be preparing to land more than $100,000 worth of liquor.

A "leak proof" blockade, extending from Riverside to San Luis Obispo will be established by nightfall, the dry agents declared.

THUNDER BAY IS SWEEPED BY BLAZE

North Ontario Threatened By Fire In Forests; Farmer Killed

FORT WILLIAM, Ontario, May 14.—The entire Thunder Bay district of Northern Ontario today was at the mercy of flames sweeping from four different fronts through the virgin forests, tinder-dry from weeks of drought.

One aged farmer, trapped by the onrushing flames, is known to have perished. Scores of settlers have been driven from their homes and numerous towns in the path of the conflagrations are threatened. The fire has been raging for more than twenty-four hours.

Last night it was believed the village of Nipigon would be engulfed, but a shift in the wind after sundown drove the flames in another direction after the entire town had been abandoned.

An estimate of the damage at this time, forest rangers said, was impossible.

HUSBAND OF FEW HOURS SHOT DEAD

Father Of Young Bride Who Was Shot Also, Hunted As Murderer

MIAMI, Fla., May 14.—While 21-year-old Ethel Caldwell Hawkins, a bride but a few hours, lay in Victoria hospital with bullet wounds endangering her life, posses today scoured citrus groves in the outskirts of Coral Gables for a trace of her father, A. C. Caldwell, who is alleged to have fired the bullets into her body and then shot and killed Eugene Hawkins, of Excelsior, Minn., her young husband.

The searches believe, according to Police Chief M. P. Lehman of Coral Gables, that the man who put such a tragic end to a love affair of which he did not approve, calmly reloaded his revolver, walked into the woods and took his own life.

ACTRESS PAROLED

LOS ANGELES, May 14.—Justine Valse, actress, self-assured dupe in the alleged "blackmail plot" against Pola Negri, film star, were paroled today in the custody of her sister, Mrs. E. Fracchia, following a hearing before a sanity commission. Medical experts told the commission the girl's mind was "hazy" but said there was nothing to warrant holding her in an asylum.

'SWINDLE' CASE

DETROIT, May 14.—Examination of Martin L. Belfort, charged with swindling Mrs. Myrtle Harris, a school teacher, of $1000 in 1921, was postponed until May 21 when the case was called today.

AGENTS CHASE SHIPS NEAR CATALINA ISLAND

Vessels Turn To Sea And Escape; Say $1,000,000 In Liquor Lands

LOS ANGELES, May 14.—Two camouflaged vessels, believed by prohibition agents to be the vanguard of the Atlantic coast "rum fleet" reported on its way to the Pacific coast, were sighted today a short distance off Catalina island. Federal agents chased the two boats, which were reported to have turned to sea, escaping in light mists.

Alfred England, lookout, marine exchange, San Pedro, in the outer harbor, who first sighted the two ships, said they were heavily laden with liquors and may have succeeded in unloading a huge stock during the night.

Reports that more than $1,000,000 worth had been unloaded near Los Angeles in the last twenty-four hours were not denied by prohibition officers.

Require $200,000,000 For Drive Against Rum Runners

By ROBERT S. THORNBURGH
For International News Service
NEW YORK, May 14.—If prohibition and liquor smuggling laws are to be enforced to the letter in the United States, the Sixty-ninth Congress must appropriate over $200,000,000 for the job.

That is one of the conclusions of both official and unofficial observers of the government's titanic drive to exterminate rum row, International News Service learned today.

This year's cost of enforcement of prohibition laws and operating the coast guard was approximately $40,000,000, and it is highly unlikely that Congress will exceed that figure materially in the next budget, regardless of what experts believe is necessary.

A survey of the rum situation disclosed that to afford airtight protection to the coasts, the government must maintain a fleet of close to 100 sea-going cutters, 200 heavily armed patrol boats and a complement of smaller craft. It would take 7,000 to 10,000 men to man this "navy."

"Even that tremendous force would not be an absolute guarantee that no liquor would come in," a high official said, "but it is the minimum force required to do this work right."

The coast guard now has about sixteen cutters. All but four are over thirty years old, and soon will be ready for the junk heap, according to the information received here. Of the new ones, the Mojave is flagship of the prohibition navy and the others on special duty.

These facts will be brought out before congressional committees when the real story of the rum situation is disclosed in the appropriations fight, it is said.

BANDIT GETS STAY

PHOENIX, Ariz., May 14.—Briefs filed in the supreme court here today on the appeal of William Lawrence, Oklahoma bandit, convicted of the murder of Phoenix Officer Haze Burch of Phoenix, automatically gave Lawrence a stay of execution. He was under sentence to hang June 12.

HANEY IS BACKED

WASHINGTON, May 14.—Reappointment of E. E. Haney of Oregon as a member of the United States shipping board, was urged upon President Coolidge today by Senator McNary, Republican of Oregon. Haney's term expires in June.

HOLDUPS IN L. A.

LOS ANGELES, May 14.—A series of eight holdups in which two cafes and three pedestrians, a drug store and two pedestrians were robbed, netted yegmen $500 here today. One of the drug stores was robbed of cash and fifty bottles of whiskey.

FORD DICKERS TO BUY 400 U. S. SHIPS

Merchant Fleet Under Auto Maker's Direction Is Seen in Proposal

DETROIT, May 14.—Operation of a merchant fleet under the direction of Henry Ford was in prospect today with the announcement that the automobile manufacturer was considering the purchase of 400 steel vessels from the United States shipping board.

"Most of the shipping board vessels are pretty small for our purposes," said Ford in discussing the report. "We might buy them if the price were right, but it is only those of around 12,000 tons that would be suitable for our use. The others would have to be scrapped."

"What we need are ships about the tonnage of the East Indian, which we bought from the shipping board to be reconditioned for export trade to Denmark. The East Indian runs around 12,000 tons."

Price Not Settled

"The Onondaga and the Onida, which were put into the South American and coastwise service last summer, were also shipping board ships. They are much too small for the sort of trade we plan."

Ford said too that he would be careful to see that any boats he bought were built right. The question of price still remains to be settled of course.

The Fords said they will pay little more for the vessels than they would pay for scrap, since much of the fleet would have to be scrapped anyway and the remainder reconditioned at great expense. They would not hope to use as carriers all the boats they bought, it was hinted.

"We could not use more than a few, maybe ten to thirty, if we used any," said Ford.

RADIO HINDRANCE SHOWS DECREASE

Less Trouble Reported By Listeners-In, Capital Bureau Reports

WASHINGTON, May 14.—Marked decrease in the number of interference complaints from radio listeners-in has been noted in the past month. Officials of the department of commerce said this could be attributed generally to elimination of the sources of interference through the recent reorganization of class B stations, to a growing tendency of broadcasting stations to keep to their wave lengths and to slight spring indifference to broadcasting on the part of the listening public.

The flood of complaints that began clogging files in the department offices when broadcasting became popular reached its peak last fall and in the early winter months. In November it was a real problem, but following the National Radio Conference and the ensuing steps to check the interference the letters began to decrease in number.

Great Lakes Status

The recommendations adopted at the recent international conference at Detroit, if approved by the respective governments, will it is believed, further aid the broadcast listeners in their reception problems and consequently eliminate a great many letters of complaint. The Great Lakes section is at present about on a par with the district in and around New York city as far as interference is concerned.

FLUFFY RUFFLES SUMMER HINTED

Best Dressed Women Wear Lingerie Gowns With Floating Effects

By AILEEN LAMONT

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1923

NEW YORK, May 14.—Some of the big shops of New York have tried the experiment in the last week of sending mannequins, dressed in their latest creations, to "St-Rut their stuff" at the Jamaica and Maryland race courses. This move has met with entire success. The custom is a regular procedure in Paris but there the models are known, watched for and pointed out.

Paulette Chez Worth, Mimi Chez Vionnet, and others make their appearance and are known to represent famous designers. In this country the feminine racegoers are so universally well dressed that a mannequin attracts no attention. It is even impossible to pick out the lucky from the unlucky, the resident of Park avenue from the denizen of Grand street or even the ten minute eggs from the downy chickens.

If a woman appears in a striking or bizarre gown spectators do not say, "that is Sadie Gazinsky, the famous model." They shrug and indicate that another movie actress has designs on the Sunday supplements, or that the bootlegger's bride is loose again.

Fluffy Ruffles Summer

Nonetheless it has become apparent that the race course is one of the few places where short clothes are not in vogue. The more formal costumes are universally worn. Naturally the ensemble lends itself particularly to such occasions, but the more feminine frocks of the soft and striking silks weaves are even more appropriate. Since they are particularly likely to obstruct the view, large hats are favored.

In fact, signs are becoming more evident every day that 1925 is to have a fluffy ruffles summer. The best dressed women are already ordering lingerie gowns. Voile, mousseline and chiffon are being extensively employed and while the silhouettes are slim, a light, fluffy and floating appearance is given by panels, aprons and petals which blend gracefully with every movement.

One charming frock just imported from Paris is of white pique in horizontal bands about four inches wide, separated by inserts of point de Venise lace. The frock has a deep V neckline bordered with pique and the front is of the cross over type, fastened at the point of the V with a big cameo ornament and at the left hip with a huge bow of cerise ribbon. The frock has quarter sleeves edged with the lace and the lower front takes the form of a square apron edged with the same material.

At the smart country clubs sport things still hold sway. Even the tailored costumes are of the sport type but a decided change may be expected with warmer weather.

SLAVE WOMEN HEADED FOR SOUTHLAND

Smuggling Gang Reported Off Pacific Coast, With Narcotics, Asia Girls

SAN FRANCISCO, May 14.—Weird stories that an international smuggling organization was attempting to smuggle liquor, narcotics, slave women and Oriental coolies into Lower and Southern California continued to reach prohibition enforcement officials here today as preparations went ahead to halt any such activities along the Pacific coast of the North Atlantic run fleet, forced from the eastern coast by the recent federal anti-rum drive.

Captain Charles Goff, head of the California prohibition enforcement department, declared such persistent rumors had been reaching him of these activities that he was taking steps to investigate them.

According to reports being investigated, the alleged syndicate made its appearance on the Pacific when the Dutch vessel Marguerite, carrying 40,000 cases of liquor and a number of European girls, arrived recently off the Lower California coast. A second ship with a similar cargo was reported to have reached the Lower California coast several days ago.

The stories reaching federal operators here hint that the so-called international crime trust has agents of several nationalities operating under the direction of a central organization in Europe. Liquor, according to these stories, is obtained in Great Britain; narcotics in Amsterdam; French girls, in France; and Oriental coolies and other narcotics from the Chinese coast.

The women are reported to be secured by promising to land them in America regardless of immigration quota restrictions.

DEBT PROSPECTS TRIFLE BRIGHTER

Senator Reed Returns From Europe With Report 'Most Encouraging'

By GEORGE HOLMES

For International News Service

WASHINGTON, May 14.—After many false starts and disappointments extending over five years, something akin to real optimism prevailed in Washington today when it was learned that out of the renewed French negotiations will come a settlement of the debt problem before the summer is over. France's response to America's latest urging is described as "most encouraging."

The reopened conversations between Ambassador Herrick and Finance Minister Caillaux in Paris have not yet passed the preliminary stage, but it was apparent that officials were more hopeful today of an ultimate adjustment than for months past.

One of the chief favorable factors was said to be that France is at least beginning to realize that the United States has no intention of either canceling this debt of $4,000,000,000, nor of scaling it down.

Despite all evidence to the contrary, the ministries of Clemenceau, Poincare, Briand and Herriot never were quite convinced that France must pay—as evidenced by the persistent ignoring of the debt in the budget these ministries presented to the Chamber.

Caillaux Insistent

Caillaux, however, has inaugurated a new regime, with a frank recognition of France's liabilities, and in his resolute tackling of unpleasant problems Washington sees reason to again be optimistic.

Senator David A. Reed, Pennsylvania, who is a "friend of France," solemnly warned that country in a sensational speech in the Senate last session that she should pay this debt, returned to the capital today from a three months' sojourn in Europe, during which he studied economic conditions and talked with numerous European statesmen.

He said today America's debtors are at last beginning to realize the fact there will be no cancellation and are really beginning to study methods of payment.

Once a settlement is reached with France, the senator believes, Italy and Belgium will speedily follow.

The upshot of the present negotiations with France is expected to be either the despatch of a French debt commission to Washington or the despatch of American negotiators to Paris before the summer is far advanced.

Senator Reed yesterday had a long conference with President Coolidge and gave him a firsthand account of European financial conditions as he surveyed them for three months. He told Mr. Coolidge it is understood that, while payment of American debts was not very popular abroad, ultimately he believed the debtor nations would take up their obligations.

WORLD SHIPPING TO SEE CHANGES

Acquisition by Dollar Line Of Government Boats To Turn Trick

By J. C. ROYLE

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1923.

NEW YORK, May 14.—A change which will affect the shipping and trade of the world began when shipping board officials completed preparations for final inspection of the President Lincoln prior to delivering that vessel to the Dollar Steamship Co. of San Francisco. The President Lincoln is the first of the five president ships the purchase of which by the Dollar Line interests from the United States Shipping board aroused such controversy. When the transfer of the ships is completed and Dollar takes over the ships now operated by him out of Seattle, it will give the company virtual monopoly of the ownership and operation of passenger vessels under American registry on the Pacific.

Vice-President Stanley Dollar, who is general manager of the line, has arrived at San Francisco to take over formal possession of the President Lincoln after the vessel has been inspected. The ship will be dispatched on her first voyage under the Dollar house flag on May 16. The bookings already sold for the President Lincoln's voyage are considered the property of the Shipping Board and will be taken over by the Dollar Line. The officers and crew of the vessel will be invited to remain in their present positions, but if they do not care to do so, their places will be filled from the Dollar personnel.

Future Plans

Stanley Dollar, according to dispatches received by the writer from San Francisco, plans to continue the San Francisco-Orient service without interruption as he takes over the recently bought ships from the Pacific Mail which has been operating since 1922 now operating freighters, which were purchased from the Shipping board, on a fortnightly schedule from San Francisco around the world.

The new ships will be worked into the schedule until the line will have twelve vessels making weekly sailings. The routes taken by these round-the-world carriers are such that they make the principal ports and in doing so become competitors with the ships of practically every other maritime nation.

The Dollar Co. also owns control of the Admiral Oriental line, which operates five of the so-called President liners out of Seattle to the Orient. In a few months the company, it is understood, will be in the market to purchase those vessels from the Shipping board. If that deal goes through it would give the Dollar interests seventeen freight carrying passenger ships on the Pacific.

Pacific Over-Tonnaged

The Dollar officials admit that the Pacific is over-tonnaged at present. All seventeen of the president steamers are being put into commission on that ocean in the last three years, replacing three small Pacific Mail steamers and three China Mail boats which are now retired.

The trade with the Orient has been adversely affected by several factors. Among these were the disturbances in Siberia, the political turmoil in China and the slow recovery of Japan from the terrific loss of the earthquake of 1923.

The Dollars, from the founder of the line down, have always had firm faith in the future of the Far Eastern trade and equally strong faith in the development of demand for American lumber in the east and antipodes.

81 Years' Standing

Rumor Dollar, the founder of the company, and still its head, began the organization of this big concern thirty-one years ago when he bought a freighter to carry his own lumber to the Orient. The company now owns a huge fleet ranging from square riggers and power schooners to stately and luxurious passenger vessels. The development of the passenger business is credited to Stanley Dollar, and another son, Harold Dollar, is now in the Orient with headquarters in Shanghai.

The acquisition of the new vessels will necessitate no re-organization on the part of the concern, which already has offices in all the principal ports of the Orient.

Rumors that the Pacific Mail Co., unsuccessful bidders for the president ships, plans to enter the market for other ships and continue passenger service to the Orient are not regarded seriously in San Francisco, although the freight service of the company will be continued.

American tortoise-rimmed spectacles have become popular in Australia.

BOY'S INSISTENCE WINS JAIL TERM

Brother Writes Prison Is Fine Place; Youth Insists on Going

VISALIA, Calif., May 14.—John Pickens, 18-year-old youth pleaded guilty to burglary, after receiving a letter from his older brother, James, that San Quentin prison was a place to avoid at any possible cost, and was sentenced by Judge W. H. Wallace to a term in the Industrial Reform school for Boys at Preston.

The older brother entered San Quentin prison on March 7, after conviction of burglary of the Carl Bradford home in Eshom valley. Following receipt of a first letter from San Quentin, written by the older brother, stating that he was faring well, the younger offered to plead guilty if the court would send him to San Quentin, where he could join his brother.

Finally Wins Out

The court refused to grant the request and the young brother pleaded not guilty and his trial was set for May 5.

A second letter from his brother warned the youth to avoid the penitentiary, if possible, by taking any advice from officials.

Following receipt of this letter, the boy informed the judge that he would plead guilty without conditions attached, and was sent to the reform school.

James Pickens, the older brother in the state prison, has written Judge J. A. Allen, who imposed sentence, asking if he can be transferred to the Preston school. He is 20 years of age.

DR. C. L. MARLENEE DENIES PURCHASE

Not Interested in Any Rail 'Merger,' He Says, Only Local Real Estate

"What? Me taking any of these 'ten-to-one' shots? I should say not. Investments in Glendale real estate is plenty good enough for me."

This was the declaration of Dr. C. L. Marlenee, of 301 South Central avenue, proprietor of the Marlenee Optical Co., 114 East Broadway, when questioned regarding rumors that his name appeared on the "list of clients" of Thomas Hennessy and Harry D. Gibbs, Los Angeles brokers, alleged to have put over a gigantic rail merger swindle.

"How they got my name on their books is a mystery to me," Dr. Marlenee said. "I never saw them, didn't even know they were in existence, and know nothing about any rail merger plans. Nobody ever talked to me about such an idea, nor mentioned any of this 'ten-to-one' stuff to me. I wouldn't have 'bit' if they laid a false bunch of such 'stock' in front of me. Glendale real estate looks better to me than all these stock-selling propositions. I keep my money at home, right here in Glendale."

Vaudeville Star Will Sing At Oakmont Club

Miss Helen Sayre of Glendale, member of the Sayre Sisters, well-known Orpheum circuit entertainers, will present an Indian song program Sunday night at 8 o'clock at Oakmont Country club. Miss Sayre will present her program in Indian costume. The music for the songs was written by Homer Gruner and Cadman and the lyrics by Charles Roos. This will be the first time the program has been presented in Glendale.

Explosions Indicative Of Treasure Hunting

GRASS VALLEY, May 14.—Explosions occurring nightly for the past week are interpreted by old-timers as indicating that treasure-hunters are searching for loot hidden during the early days by bandits.

When the Grass Valley-Marysville stage was held up fifty years ago, the robbers secured gold bullion valued at $85,000 and similar instances were not rare. It is believed these treasures were buried in the hills and that persons who believe they have authentic information as to their whereabouts are searching at night to avoid publicity.

STEADY GAINS IN GROWTH FORECAST

Population of Glendale Will Reach 100,000 By 1933,
Statistics Show

Glendale will have a population of 100,000 people within eight years, even though no residents are added by annexation of outside territory, a survey of statistics compiled by J. F. McIntyre, commercial agent of the public service department, indicates.

During April 716 more persons established their residence here, bringing the total population to date to 60,156, it is indicated by the April municipal electric meter report. On April 1 there were 14,560 electric meters. A total of 179 were added during the month, bringing a total of 15,039 on May 1. A conservative estimate of population is obtained by multiplying the number of meters by four.

Increase Steady.

Over a period of five years the ratio of increase in light meters has been exceptionally steady, showing an increase in population of approximately 4800 annually. Each monthly report of light meters has been a criterion of conditions here.

The increase was steady each month to the latter part of 1922 and the first of 1923, when a slight jump in the number of meters installed was noted. Then followed the slump during the middle of 1924, broken about three months ago, as shown in a steadily increasing number of meter installations each thirty days. The average, however, over the period of five years shows remarkably little variation over the twelve-month periods.

RECORDS MADE IN SCHOOLS PRAISED

Glendale Graduates Attain High Marks, Says Dean
Of Women In Speech

Praise of the record made by graduates of Glendale Union High school in colleges and universities was given by Helen Mathewson Laughlin, dean of women of University of California, southern branch, speaking at the girls' assembly this morning at Broadway High school under the auspices of Glendale College Women's club.

In addition to the girls there were present women of the faculty, many mothers and members of the College Women's club. Dean Laughlin was introduced by Mrs. Frank W. Parr, president of the College Women's club.

Dean Laughlin prefaced her talk on "Vocational Opportunities for Women" by stating that she had a very big place in her heart for Glendale, for it was here that she taught her first school.

"Every girl should be self-supporting," she said, in sketching the broadening of woman's sphere from the narrow confines of the home. Most of you will be home-makers," the speaker said, "and there is nothing finer than to be a good home-maker."

She stressed the need of women being self-supporting, and made the plea, "Don't be social parasites." The women's movement, she added, had secured equal educational opportunities with men, had given women entrance into professional life and had secured laws beneficial to womanhood. She said there are unlimited opportunities today for women.

Vocational Guidance

Vocational guidance was cited by Dean Laughlin as most important in providing a scope of opportunities for young women, and suggested that the Girls' league of Glendale High school form a committee to provide information of this kind. Her suggestion was finished with the word that completing vocational guidance is individual decision.

"Added opportunities bring added responsibilities," Dean Laughlin concluded, "and my word to girls is, secure a higher education; it gives you a background for your life work, whatever that may be."

FRAZIER PARK IS HELPED BY RAINS

Unusual Popularity Is Shown For Mountain Homes,
Subdivider Says

That the abundance of spring rain has been more a boon to the mountains of Southern California and thousands of nearby residents as well, is attested by the unusual popularity of the mountain resorts this spring, said N. T. Baird, sales manager for Frazier Mountain Park and Fisheries Co., Inc., today.

"To this fact alone, we attribute the increasingly large crowds that flock each week to Frazier Mountain park. Never before have the trees seemed so green or has there been such a luxuriant growth of shrubs and wild flowers as this spring," he declared.

"Improvements are continually being made at the park and by the first of June it is anticipated that the water system will have been completed which will make running water available to every lot. Many cabins have been recently completed and others are under course of construction while the Community clubhouse is practically finished and a grand opening is planned for the immediate future," he said.

HUNDREDS VISIT NEW FACTORY IN ATWATER

Formal Opening Staged at Plant of Empire Lighting Fixtures Co. as Big Building Is Completed

Hundreds of people from Atwater Park, Glendale, Hollywood and Los Angeles have visited the Empire Lighting Fixtures company's new plant on Glendale boulevard since the formal opening of the new concern Tuesday. Great throngs crowded the place the opening day to inspect the plant where more than fifty men are now employed in making electric light fixtures and the display rooms where 750 fixtures are hung on the walls and ceilings.

Entertainment featured the opening day throughout the afternoon and evening. Directors of the Oakmont Country club were present at night when John F. Mortensen, proprietor of the lighting company, presented the club with two large wrought iron light standards for the front porch of the Oakmont clubhouse.

The opening sale at the fixtures plant will continue until Wednesday, May 20. Mr. Mortensen announced today. During the sale fixtures will be offered at greatly reduced prices. With every purchase of $50 or more a beautiful wrought iron bridge lamp with hand painted parchment shade will be given free. The fixtures plant is located at 3160 Glendale boulevard.

Boy Scouts At Meeting

Atwater Boy Scouts met Tuesday night at the Neighborhood Christian church under the direction of Scoutmaster Peterman. The boys were served refreshments by a committee of the Parent-Teacher association, headed by Mrs. Peterman and Mrs. E. V. Bacon.

Scout headquarters in a boys' building to be located on the rear of the Christian church property is assured, according to an announcement by Mr. Peterman. Plans for the scout building will be rushed.

The Boy Scouts are now divided into patrols according to age and amount of work accomplished. Patrol leaders of the troop will meet at the Peterman home to discuss plans for raising sufficient money to buy necessary equipment for the troop.

Committeemen Make Plans

Committeemen of the Atwater district Wardlaw-Council club met at Wardlaw headquarters, 3202 Glendale boulevard, last night and laid plans for a huge mass meeting of voters to be held next Monday night at the headquarters. Prominent speakers from throughout the first district will be on the program and an attendance of several hundred voters is expected.

Wardlaw headquarters were opened for the public this morning, with Mrs. J. B. Gooch in charge. Information regarding the forthcoming election and political matters in the first district will be obtainable at the headquarters at any time. P. E. Lipscomb, organizer of the club, stated.

Protest Against Sign

The use of electrically lighted advertising signs, located on the hillside east of the cemetery, would be denied Forest Lawn Memorial park by residents of the Atwater district, who today circulated a petition against the use of the electric signs at night.

According to the petition, the signs are an "unethical" means of advertising and constitute a nuisance. The light from the signs flashing on and off throughout the night is alleged to disturb the slumbers of property owners in the district and to have been the cause of much physical and mental anguish thereby, according to the petition.

Signatures are being sought to the petition from all residents of the district. The protests against the signs will be presented to the Los Angeles City Council, it is declared. In the event that the council is unable to act in the matter, which may be the case, it is pointed out, as the cemetery lies in Glendale, not in Los Angeles, a protest will be made to the county Board of Supervisors, it is said.

The sign alleged to be causing the greater amount of irritation among the residents of Atwater Park is the new one installed on the southwest side of the hill. It is

LOCAL FLYERS TO ATTEND AIR MEET

Santa Barbara To Be Scene Of Consummation Of Southland Plans

Permanent organization of the Southern California Aeronautical association, and furthering of plans formulated at the initial meeting held in conjunction with the two-day aviation meet in Glendale on March 14 and 15, will be consummated at a meeting to be held Saturday at the Arlington hotel, Santa Barbara. Aviators from all parts of Southern California will be guests of the Santa Barbara Aero club on that date.

Dr. T. C. Young, prominent sportsman and aviator of Glendale; Howard I. Wood, secretary Glendale Chamber of Commerce, and a member of the aviation committee; T. T. Edwards of 1213 North Brand boulevard, renowned the world over as a map maker, and A. S. Hall, a member of the editorial staff of The Glendale Evening News, will fly to Santa Barbara Saturday to attend the meeting.

Men interested in aviation since the days of the old pusher type of planes, and the uncertainty of gliders, will be present at the meeting. Pioneers in the aviation field in Southern California will be represented, and several prominent speakers will be on the program.

Initial Steps

Preliminary steps toward the formation of an aeronautical association in Southern California were made at a banquet held at the Tuesday afternoon clubhouse on March 14, when guests included Capt. Lowell Smith, commander of the around-the-world flight; Earl Ovington, Santa Barbara, who carried the first piece of mail in an airplane; Prof. A. A. Merrill of the California Institute of Technology, prominent in glider work; A. L. Oliver, who framed the first bill of air legislation; Lieut. C. F. Kane, commander of Ross and March fields; E. H. Barrett, attorney for the Southern California Commercial Aircraft association, and others.

Members of the organization committee are: Dr. T. C. Young, Earl Ovington, Lieut. Kane, A. L. Oliver and A. E. Isham of Redlands. One of the important ideas advocated by the proposed association will be the establishing of airports throughout Southern California.

Kinner Sells Airsters to Glendale Men

The idea of home markets for home products was demonstrated this week when Don Reardon, 123 South Adams street, and Robert Starkey, 914 South Glendale avenue, took delivery of two Kinner Airsters, manufactured in Glendale at the Kinner Aeroplane Manufacturing plant, Glendale Airport. Announcement of the delivery was made by W. S. Kinner, president of the company, and inventor of the Kinner Airster.

Five airplanes are being manufactured at the local plant, Mr. Kinner announced. A working force of eight men is kept busy, and, judging by the advance orders, Mr. Kinner said it would be necessary to increase his working force to thirty within the next few weeks. Several orders for Airsters are directly traceable to the two-day meet held here March 14 and 15.

Dr. Byron Holly Will Speak Here Friday

Dr. Byron Holly, director of the St. Jude Parish, of Burbank, will speak at the Harvard High school auditorium tomorrow night, starting at 8 o'clock, on "Our Public Schools and Their Problems." The meeting will be under the auspices of the two Blue lodges of the Masonic order, Unity lodge No. 368, and Glendale lodge No. 544.

The meeting is an annual event held in accordance with the edict of the grand master of Masonry in California as part of the order's plan to assist in educational matters. The meeting is open to the public.

W. C. T. U. MEET

Mrs. S. E. Logie, state evangelist of W. C. T. U., who resides at 114 North Everett street, attended the dedication ceremonies of the W. C. T. U. Temperance Temple, corner of Temple and North Broadway, Los Angeles, held yesterday at noon.

EXCHANGES TO HOLD STATE SESSION

Glendale To Be Represented
Santa Barbara

When the state convention of Exchange clubs opens Friday morning at the Cabrillo hotel in Santa Barbara, Glendale will be represented by at least fifteen members, according to plans announced today by William Baker, president of the local Exchange club. President Baker and R. E. Johnston, past president, are delegates, and Secretary T. F. Culhane and W. Claire Anspach are alternates.

Several members of the club are planning on attending at least one of the sessions to be held during the three days of the convention. Those who will be present when the convention opens Friday morning will leave here at 8 o'clock, it is planned.

Stunts Arranged

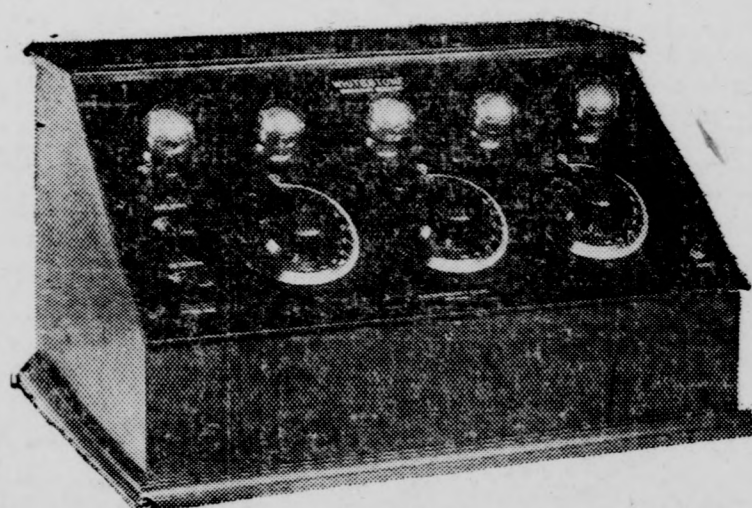

Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson, has been named chairman of the stunt committee of the Glendale club and has arranged a number of stunts to be presented at the convention. Foremost among the stunts is a skit to be given by the "baby" members of the local club, Earl Welch, Dr. A. G. Bower, Dr. F. W. Loring and H. W. Brough. The club quartet will be composed of W. Claire Anspach, R. E. Johnston, Dr. G. A. Campbell and Carl Christy.

The Glendale Evening News will be represented at the convention by A. S. Hall, a member of the editorial staff, who will make the trip to Santa Barbara by airplane.

FIRE PROTECTION

La Crescenta valley unit of the Angeles Fire Protective association, is sponsoring a public meeting at 7:30 o'clock next Monday night at La Crescenta school, where E. I. Kotok, chief inspector of the United States forest service, will speak. A. H. Aiken, president of the La Crescenta unit, will preside. Mr. Kotok will speak on "Forest Fires, What to do and How to Handle Them."

MEMORIALS

Millions of dollars are to be spent for memorials this year. One million has been subscribed for a Roosevelt monument in Washington and money is being raised to preserve Monticello, home of Thomas Jefferson, and to purchase and care for the birthplace of George Washington. And, greatest memorial of all, is the stupendous undertaking at Stone Mountain, a tribute to the soldiers of the south, where a new sculptor, Augustus Lukeman, has recently taken charge, replacing Gutzon Borglum, with whom the directors of the memorial had differences.

Such memorials are fine things. They inspire us and fire us to better citizenship as nothing else could. Anyone who has visited Gettysburg, Antietam, South Mountain and other battlefields and cemeteries of the Civil war, which are closely dotted with tablets and monuments to commemorate the lives of those who fought and fell, and to mark historic spots, will testify to the inspirational power of such memorials. Anyone who has visited Washington's home and tomb on the banks of the Potomac and Lincoln's home and tomb at Springfield, Ill., will agree that a country that does not preserve and perpetuate such shrines is not deserving of patriots.

We should ever desire to perpetuate the features of our great men in bronze or stone or on canvas and to mark our historic spots. But sometimes it is a question whether or not our great men would not prefer that their memorials should take some other form, such as the establishment of schools or the pursuit of science, parks, museums, libraries, schools and hospitals are, after all, better memorials than marble statues. Coming generations may be mentally and spiritually stimulated by the sculptured likenesses of our great men of today. But in the other sort of memorials also they will find inspiration, and, in addition, knowledge, truth, beauty, rest and health—things that minister to the happiness of the human race.

However, the Board of Education and the committee of fifteen citizens appointed by the board to make a survey of school conditions tell us that more than $1,000,000 in bonds must be voted for the schools. The trustees of the Glendale Union High school tell us that when the city school bond issue is out of the way they will ask that more than $1,000,000 in bonds be voted for high school purposes. So the proposition to vote $150,000 in bonds for a memorial building in Glendale—or is it true that the site for the proposed building is outside the city limits of Glendale and in Los Angeles county?—should be examined with the greatest of care and weighed against the proposed school bond issues of more than $2,000,000 and the greater question of how deep people desire to go into debt. The vote on the memorial project will be cast on June 16, the same day as that of the city school bond election.

GLENDALE THE GORGEOUS

While we live out of doors more or less the year 'round, at this season we enjoy being out in our own back yards just a little more than at any other time of year. And since this is Better Homes week we should make it a point to go over every inch of the home grounds, be they large or small, and plan to make them as attractive as the interior of our homes. While it is a duty to ourselves to make the inside of our homes attractive we owe it to the community to carefully consider landscape effects and to make neatness and beauty the watchwords in the treatment of lawns and grounds. As hosts to the friends who come into our homes we want everything to be clean, comfortable and inviting. As citizens we should strive for the same result for guests of the community who pass by our homes. The softening effect of shade trees, the proper and artistic placing of shrubbery and the brilliance of flowers are necessary to achieve the best results in this respect.

Glendale is expecting a great many visitors this summer, and especially in September, when our fiesta is to be held. We can make our yards and grounds, fences and pergolas a mass of blooming beauty at that time if we act now. Nothing is more impressive, especially to newcomers to California, than beautiful floral effects. Haven't you ever heard the exclamations of delight from passengers on a street car, for instance, as the car passed a home where a beautiful wistaria vine or a particularly beautiful climbing rose or massed flowers in large quantities were in bloom? Many flowers can be planted now to afford a riot of color and beauty by September. Your florist can advise as to what and how to plant.

If each owner of a home will do his best to make his grounds neat and beautiful and if each owner of a vacant lot will see that it is cleaned of weeds and rubbish, we can win the title, "Glendale, the Gorgeous," by September.

RUM RUNNING UNPROFITABLE

Almost any evil may be stopped by making it unprofitable. The rum smuggling business is dangerous, but men will risk their lives to run the blockade. But the business is becoming unprofitable, and that is going to be its death blow.

One British rum baron has just announced his failure. He says only about a tenth of his goods succeeded in getting into this country, and the returns from that were insufficient to pay for the cost of disposing of it. British exporters generally are discouraged with the illegitimate end of their business and are said to be concentrating on non-prohibition countries.

The coast guard, with 7000 men, 120 launches and twelve destroyers, with $10,000,000 to spend in catching sea smugglers, are co-operating with the prohibition forces this year. Evidently their operations are not without effect.

If we can save daylight by monkeying with the clock, why not tinker with the calendar and retain the bloom of youth?

A bachelor is contented for the same reason that people once were content with candles. They didn't know any better.

As Europe looks over our tourists she doubtless thinks we have nerve to propose a tariff to keep out foreign nuts.

In one particular we are not behind other nations in preparedness. We have a fine big pension office.

THE COLOSSUS OF ROADS!

Religion

By DR. FRANK CRANE

When a man has arrived at the age of ninety years with faculties undimmed, his ideas about religion are apt to be interesting.

Usually they are not very theoretical, but have been modified by his experience.

Dr. Charles W. Eliot, one of the foremost minds of the United States, recently gave some interesting opinions on this subject. He said that while boys and girls, according to his observation, are extremely reticent on religious subjects with their kindred, when they go to college they talk a great deal with their intimates about them. He says that almost all educated youth acquire and cherish motives that may fairly be called religious.

The motive which is the most practical is the desire to be serviceable in the world, serviceable to comrades and friends, to families, to the town or city, and to the nation.

Toward the creeds of the past he thinks that their use is frankly suspicious. He rejects almost all of them, and comes to the question of religion with a free mind.

The two sentiments that most inspire men to good deeds are love and hope, and religion gives more rational play to these two sentiments than anything else.

The new religion affords indefinite scope for progress and development. It rejects all limitations of family, tribal and national religion. Its fundamental precept of serviceableness admits of infinite variety both in time and space. It is very simple, and therefore possesses an important element of durability.

Most religions condemn the majority of the human race to hell and reserve salvation to a comparatively small portion. This has been due to the effort of the Church to reserve the saving business for itself. But Dr. Eliot believes the ancient systems of reward and punishment of the future world will have to be abandoned.

To his mind, the desire to be serviceable to one's fellows leads directly to a belief in God, and "I do not believe that the religion of the future will be devoid of worship. The new religion will magnify and laud God's love and compassion, but will not venture to state what the justice of God may or may not require of any of His creatures."

From an old man who has passed the ordinary term of life and who has spent his days in intellectual activity, the above views are interesting. Copyright 1925, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

Horoscope

After the early morning when the Sun is in benefic aspect, astrologers read this as an unfortunate day, for Uranus, Saturn, Mars, and Neptune are all adverse.

It is wise indeed to be cautious in all important matters today and so there will be luck in following well-known paths in business or professional work.

The principal aspect produces uncertain and misleading conditions that affect the judgment and depress the spirits.

It is well to keep silent and to remain inactive in all big projects, for under this rule even friends may be tempted to betray confidence.

There is much danger of deception and misunderstanding while this sway prevails, for self love rules even more decidedly than at other times.

Industrial affairs may suffer from the direction of the stars which encourages dissension among workers and suspicion regarding the motives of employers. Labor troubles are easily precipitated while this planetary government prevails.

Oil speculation or even exploration is likely to be subject to bad direction while this aspect prevails.

Again there will be rumors of wars and international differences will disturb European powers.

The seers again warn America that it is henceforth impossible to escape from participation in all world affairs.

Saturn setting at Moscow certainly presages new difficulties for Russia and sinister alliances that will cause anxiety.

Mars rising in Calcutta in square to Uranus is read as presaging excitement among the Hindus.

Turbulence in South Africa may be expected in the summer when Great Britain will have many diverse difficulties with colonies or dependencies.

Persons whose birthdate it is may have a few disappointments in the coming year, but there should be much good luck.

Children born on this day may have ups and downs but subjects of Taurus have the power to success in the highest attainments.

Who's Who

Admiral William Sims, retired, commander of the American fleet in European waters during the World war, recently declared that there is not even a slight chance that America will be attacked from the Pacific, or that the "yellow peril" will become a reality until China is developed to the level of Japan.

"America is secure from an attack in the great distance that attacking powers would have to travel to reach American soil," Admiral Sims said. "There is a possibility that the Philippines could be taken temporarily, but because those islands are on the direct line of Great Britain's communications, it is doubtful if England would permit their seizure."

"Japan knows that she would not have the slightest chance if she crossed swords with the United States, and until China can become a military and naval power, there is little probability of attack. China, however, has been at a standstill for the last few centuries, so there is nothing to worry about from that angle for several generations."

The admiral lauded the work of General William Mitchell as a commander in the aviation service and with the general's fight for a ministry of air defense, but disagreed with him on the union of land, sea and air branches. For a naval officer to have in his command fliers who know nothing of naval tactics is little better than no planes at all, the admiral contended.

THE BEST

What's the best thing in the world?

June-rose, by May-dew imperl'd.

Sweet south wind, that means no rain;

Truth, not cruel to a friend;

Pleasure, not in haste to end;

Beauty, not self-deck'd and curl'd

Till its pride is over-plain;

Light, that never makes you wink;

Memory, that gives no pain;

Love, when so you're loved again.

What's the best thing in the world?

Something out of it, I think.

The Best of Advice

By CLARK KINNAIRD

Of all writers, La Rochefoucauld, Frenchman, learned best that brevity is the soul of wit.

When the grave closed over him the world had less than 1,000 paragraphs to remember him by, yet he stands three centuries later in the forefront of the world's great writers.

No philosopher has gone deeper into human conduct than La Rochefoucauld, who wrote that philosophy triumphs easily over past, and over future evils, but present evils triumph over philosophy.

These are some of his observations on humans:

"A man often fancies that he guides himself when he is guided by others; and while his mind aims at one object, his heart insensibly draws him on to another."

"Strength and weakness of mind are badly named—they are, in fact, nothing more than the good or bad arrangement of the organs of the body."

"Hatred of favorites is nothing less than the love of favor. The mortification of not possessing it is consoled and relieved by the contempt we show or those who do possess it; and we refuse them our respect, because we cannot deprive them of what attracts the respect of all the world."

"Although men pride themselves on their great and noble ideas are often the result, not of any great design, but of chance."

"We often persuade ourselves that we love people more powerful than we are; and yet it is interest alone which produces our friendship. We do not associate with them for any good that we wish to do them, but for that which we would receive from them."

"Men would not live long in society if they were not the dupes of each other."

"Old men are fond of giving good advice, to console themselves for being no longer in a position to give bad examples."

"A man of wit would often be embarrassed without the company of fools."

"We seldom praise but to be praised."

"Hope, deceitful as she is, served at last to conduct us through life by an agreeable path."

"A truly virtuous man is he who prides himself upon nothing."

Timely Views

Major General A. W. Greely, retired, dean of living Polar explorers, believes that with powerful engines driving navy planes through the air, instead of dogs drawing sledges over the ice, the MacMillan arctic expedition under the auspices of the National Geographic society will reach the hypothetical land lying between Alaska and the North Pole.

"I am confident there is land of some sort west of Axel Heiberg island and north of Alaska," said General Greely recently. "I advanced that theory something like forty years ago after I had observed peculiar flat topped icebergs with well marked stratifications floating out of the Polar sea."

"Such bergs come from relatively smooth land where the yearly layers of snow and ice broken up, and are well known in the Antarctic. No such icebergs originate in Greenland or in the known lands to the east, for the ice there reaches the sea through the fiords and valleys and because of squeezing the stratifications are obliterated."

"While I suggested the existence of land north of Alaska from my observations of icebergs, other students of the subject advanced the same opinion based on the study of tidal fluctuations. For more than a generation explorers have hoped to reach this supposed land, but apparently the task is too great for dogs and sledges. MacMillan went 130 miles toward the objective a few years ago, but had to turn back because of almost impassable ice, with the journey just started."

"With airplanes it will be a different story. A 600-mile flight to the center of the unknown region and return should not be a difficult undertaking. I believe the trip will be made with little difficulty and that when this unknown region is visited a heretofore unmapped land will be discovered."

General Greely recalled that last summer a British expedition successfully used an airplane in reconnaissance work northeast of Spitzbergen, and on one flight approached within 600 miles of the North Pole. Only one plane was used and it was small, with an engine of no great power.

"Dangerous Innocence," now at Glendale Theatre, fine story of appealing love; picture closes tonight.

"Well-acted, well-directed, replete with intensely interesting and heart-gripping scenes is "Dangerous Innocence." Universal-Jewell production co-starring Laura LaPlante and Eugene O'Brien, which closes tonight at the Glendale Theatre.

In addition, "Dangerous Innocence" is something brand-new in the way of love stories for the old eternal triangle is given a new setting in that the third person is found in the mother of the heroine. Excellent acting by the two stars, who have been given a splendid supporting company, combined with wonderful photography, make of this a picture really worth seeing.

Adventure in Loveland
Briefly told, "Dangerous Innocence" is a pleasing story of a young girl's first adventure in Loveland. For a time it appears as though destined to be a rather painful adventure for the girl learns that the man with whom she is in love and to whom she is engaged was once in love with her own mother.

The play is filled with many big and dramatic scenes, with several bits of excellent comedy work by Miss La Plante. The production was worked out under the direction of William A. Seiter, who has given it those touches of technique which always mark his pictures. "Dangerous Innocence" was adapted to the screen from Pamela Wynne's well-known story, "Ann Is an Idiot."

GATEWAY PICTURE SHOWS 'AIR MAIL'

Photoplay Opening Today To Run Until Sunday, Was 'Shot' In West

Rhyolite Slim and his two dogs once more have the whole city of Rhyolite to themselves. After a month's stay in Nevada's famous "ghost city," Irvin Willat and his company of sixty players engaged in making "The Air Mail," struck camp and headed for Santa Monica, California, to finish the picture.

Rhyolite Slim waved them a sad farewell at the station at Beatty, the nearest town touched by a railroad. On the depot platform he made a short speech in which he pledged himself to come to Hollywood when he has located the lost lead of ore in the Bullfrog mine and give his new friends the time of their lives.

Famous Boom Town
Rhyolite, the famous boom town that curled up and died more than ten years ago after a wonderful boom, is just a memory to everyone but Slim. He "pans dirt" daily and is optimistic—plus.

In the picture Billie Dove and George Irving, are victims of a fake real estate deal and live alone in this deserted town, where Warner Baxter, as the air mail pilot, finds them. Mary Brian and Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., complete the quartette of players featured in the principal roles of the production, showing today, tomorrow and Saturday at the Gateway Theatre.

CRIME ATTORNEY BLAMES SCHOOLS

Defender of Leopold, Loeb, Other Noted Criminals Offers Remedy

By O. L. SCOTT
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.
CHICAGO, May 14.—Clarence Darrow, backed by a knowledge that comes of forty years of unrivaled criminal practice, holds that only a change in the basic nature of the modern American school system can bring a solution of the crime problem which today perplexes nearly every city of consequence in the land.

Mr. Darrow has declared that he is definitely through with the defense of criminals—through at 68 after saving the necks of 104 famous killers, and with never a defeat to mar his remarkable record. But despite the fact that murders have mounted in this country to 10,000 annually in the face of an obvious leniency toward killers, the defender of Loeb and Leopold says that he is now more firmly convinced than ever that the heaviest of punishment, hanging, will not solve the problem.

Because of his success in convincing juries of the futility of capital punishment, Mr. Darrow was asked what he would suggest to replace it as a deterrent for violent crime, and what he considered from his long experience, the solution of the crime problem.

"I am thoroughly convinced," he answered, "that hanging has not the slightest effect on the commission of murder and that substitution of life imprisonment would operate as well or better."

One Solution Only
"There is only one solution for crime that I think is of any avail. Most crimes of violence begin with children who are reared in poor districts of the big cities and who have had no education or bringing up. If the public schools would take up the question of fitting everyone of them for some occupation, instead of giving them a routine of education for which many are not fitted, and would thus fit children for life and its problems, I think most crime would disappear."

"This, of course, will take time, as any important thing takes time, but there is no other solution. I think it is doubtful whether there has been any very substantial increase in crimes of violence. However, it has always been noted that after a great crime, the crimes of this sort have increased."

"When governments are engaged for years in killing people, it creates a killing psychology. It not only affects those whom we call murderers, but juries, judges and the public in general. When people read for years about killing 10,000 or so a day, it cheapens the value of human life. A long time will be required to get over this effect."

Mr. Darrow, who through forty years of active practice, has devoted his talents to the defense of criminals—some the most famous killers in the history of crime in this country—is now turning his attentions almost solely to civil suits.

But looking upon a career devoted almost solely to acting as an attorney for the defense, he feels that his clients of those years came to their predicament because schools had not fitted them for useful occupation.

COLLEEN MOORE and LLOYD HUGHES in 'SALLY,' showing at the Cosmo theatre.

All the charm that marked Zeigfeld's stage production of "Sally" is caught and enhanced in First National's screen version of the same play, with Colleen Moore in the title role.

"Sally" opens today at the Cosmo theatre. It is a colorful and delightful story, beautifully photographed and "staged," and the direction of Alfred E. Green is worthy of the highest praise.

In the cast Miss Moore has Lloyd Hughes as her leading man, while the chief comedy role is in the hands of Leon Errol, who created the same part in Zeigfeld's stage version. Errol is at his funniest on the screen.

Others who lend their able efforts are Myrtle Stedman, John T. Murray, Dan Mason, Eva Novak, Ray Hallor, Carlo Schipa, E. H. Calvert and others.

AT LA CRESCENTA

LA CRESCENTA, May 14.—An illuminating talk on life and politics in China was heard by members of the Crescenta Women's club yesterday afternoon when Senator A. Burlingame Johnson, as guest of honor, spoke.

Senator Johnson, introduced by Mrs. Alice Singleton, curator of the American Citizenship department, stressed the point that the civilization of the Chinese empire was hundreds of years old when our European ancestors were still struggling with the problem of getting food and clothing with the aid of the cave man's club. He said:

"There is no country of Europe of today that could go through the recent civil upheavals in China that would not be a chaotic wreck. But China goes along. In many parts of the country it will still be years before the people know there has been any change in the government."

In speaking of his own work in helping found the greatest Anglo-China college in that country, Mr. Johnson said: "This college is now twenty-five years old and some of the leaders of the country today are graduates of that college."

Coming nearer home on the Pacific coast, the speaker stated that all problems in connection with this part of the globe had been ended when the Washington Arms Conference was held, and that statesmen of America with their keen vision for the future generations, had saved the commerce of the great Pacific countries for the years to come. The senator made a plea for the mothers to see that their boys were trained to be worthy to serve their state and country in the field of politics.

At Mrs. Singleton's request a rising vote of thanks was accorded the speaker. In commenting on Mr. Johnson's reference to politics, Mrs. Turck pointed out the need for every right-thinking American woman to do her duty at the polls.

Opening the regular program, Mrs. Turck, president of the club, called on chaplain, Mrs. Lotta Collins, to lead in prayer, followed by the salute of the flag, led by Mrs. Singleton, and by singing of "America the Beautiful," with Mrs. C. W. Angier, accompanying. Minutes of the previous meeting, read by Secretary Mrs. A. B. Cochran, were accepted.

Mrs. R. Q. MacDonald, curator of the music section, gave the report of the concert held last Thursday night. Ninety-two dollars were added to the building fund. Mrs. Turck thanked the members for the happiness the laying of the corner stone of the new clubhouse had given her, coming as it did on the anniversary of her birthday. Mrs. Merritt, curator of the home economics department, gave a brief report. Mrs. A. F. L. Sullivan announced that tickets for the Jarman concert to be held on May 23, will be $1 each.

Mrs. Turck reported the illness of Mrs. Howard Reynolds, who had not to date missed a meeting this year. Mrs. Reynolds is a charter member of the club. Mrs. D. Pinkus will fill the office of corresponding secretary for the remainder of the year, as Mrs. Newton is leaving for an extended trip.

Announcements were made of the tea to be held for the Verdugo Hills Post Auxiliary and the Ladies Aid fund sale to be held in Montrose. Mrs. E. L. Sullivan was appointed to represent the club at the Friday Morning club

O'MALLEY TAKES 'MANNA' HONORS

Brother Of Movie Star, Pat, Charles Plays 'Goofie' In Dobinson Play

On the stage it isn't so much what one does as the way he does it.

This is proven in Olga Printzla's drama of love and faith, "Manna," now being presented at the Philharmonic auditorium in Los Angeles. The play is one that gets stronger as it becomes better known. It started with an inadequate production in a small and barnlike theatre at the hands of a group of community arts players a year ago, and the Dobinson Players presented it for three weeks in Glendale Playhouse and broke all house records. Now it has moved to the city for a two weeks' engagement.

Next it goes on tour in California, as Mrs. Dobinson's contract with Miss Printzla provides for its production anywhere in this state. And after that, Wagenhals & Kemper will produce it in New York. It has been tried on several varieties of dog, and each time the "dog," which means the trial audiences, has evinced evidences of pleasure and approval.

O'Malley Shines
But to revert to the statement in the opening line, Charles O'Malley as "Goofie," the war veteran who is slightly off center mentally because of the hardships and shell shock, apparently hasn't much of a part. But from the first word he speaks he creates an authoritative picture of the character. One does not wonder who and what O'Malley is, because his personality is completely submerged in "Goofie."

Though still a youth, O'Malley has been on the stage for nineteen years. He was in the British Isles in repertoire for five years with the Abbey Players. He has played in New York productions, creating "Doctor Walsh" in The Parish Priest. And he has supported his brother Pat, the movie star, who admits he's happily married, in pictures.

There is genuine pathos in the way he says, with lighthearted witfulness: "Gee, I don't know why they're keepin' me here! I'm all right, ain't I, fellows?" O'Malley helps to make "Manna" a stronger and better play.

NEW MOTOR ROAD
A proposed $25,000,000 motor road from London to Brighton would take five lines of traffic without a speed limit and there would be no crossings, as the road would pass above or below existing thoroughfares.

Twenty-five American taxis have been ordered for the new Warsaw, Poland, line.

SCHOOL PICNIC

reciprocity day. A letter from Mrs. Florence Dobinson, read by Mrs. Turck, who urged all members to see it, if possible, Mrs. Dobinson's latest play, "Manna," now showing at the Philharmonic auditorium in Los Angeles.

New members voted in by acclamation were Mrs. R. I. Lowe of Montrose, Mrs. R. Parker of La Crescenta, and Mrs. George Buttery of Tujunga. Diet and Health

By LULU HUNT PETERS, M. D.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

DROOPING OF THE EYELIDS (OTOSIS)

Dear J.—Drooping of the eyelids may be congenital or acquired. When congenital (that is, when one is born with it) it is usually double and due to deficient development of the muscles which raise the eyelids. The acquired ptosis usually affects but one eye. This is caused by paralysis of the nerve which supplies the lifting muscle.

For the acquired form, the physician has to find out the cause of the paralysis of the nerve and if the treatment directed towards its relief doesn't effect a cure, then an operation can be performed. May states that these operations cause great improvement, but, of course, perfect recovery cannot be expected.

MUSCLES VS. FAT

Dear Dr. Lulu: Three months ago, I wrote for your booklet on reducing, read it, through and went to work at once. I am five feet, six inches tall, fifty-five years old and did weigh 198. I have reduced only eight pounds to date, though in measurements I have reduced six inches in the hips, one inch in the waist and two inches in the bust, so it would seem that I must have lost more than eight pounds. However, I have moved from our town and I think perhaps the scales do not register the same, because I lost eight pounds to begin with in less than two weeks.

"I take sitting up and bending, kicking and arm and neck exercises, and I walk from eight to twelve blocks every evening in a good, brisk fashion, as if I had a date and were late."

"Now to get to what I want most to say—I thank you for I am feeling better and younger than I have in fourteen years. I can run upstairs and whistle or sing at the same time. In fact, I have practiced two steps at a time. A year ago, when I'd reach the top of the stairs at a leisurely gait, I'd have to drop down and rest. Again I say "thank you."

"I have been careful about my diet, but not strenuous. I have suffered from hunger once or twice and that, at night, when I had eaten too many of my calories the early part of the day. I want to ask if there are many fat calories in the beef cubes? When I can't sleep, I make a cup of that and drink it, and then I can go to sleep at once."—Mrs. M. No, you need not count the beef cubes as any calories. The yeast extracts—you can buy them under various trade names—will be better for you, because they have the vitamins. They have exceedingly few calories, but they do contain the important vitamins.

You are probably right about the scales, because with such a great loss in measurements, you must have lost more weight. However, your exercises have taken down your measurements and replaced them with muscle tissue, which really is heavier than fat tissue, only it does not take so much room.

I am running this letter because I want to emphasize this point about exercises. One of the reasons Mrs. M. feels so much better is because she is getting some vigorous exercise. Working as though one had an appointment and were late is fine. A leisurely walk doesn't give much exercise. Of course, when beginning exercises, especially after youth, one must begin with a few movements and increase in number and severity very gradually. Thank you for writing, Mrs. M.

Mrs. E.—You will be helped by the articles on acidosis and auto-intoxication. (Enclose the S. A. S. E.).

Tomorrow—Answers to Mothers

My Dear Followers:—When sending for material which we offer you please remember to enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose four cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and write them legibly with ink. If you wish your name as evidence of good faith, please use it in any way. Remember it is impossible to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible. If they are of general interest, don't forget the S. A. S. E. you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

Chats On Beauty

By EDNA KENT FORBES

PREPARE FOR HOT DAYS
The old fashioned blood purifying remedies of our grandmothers and great grandmothers are being revived in modernized style. Dandelion tea, which I used to sip as a tonic, is sold as a tonic; it contains the essence, the good, of all that was in the dandelion root, and many things besides, including something, I hope, to kill the taste.

It has always seemed odd that dandelion tea should taste so appalling. No doubt it was only because it was forced upon me, like other unpleasant experiences, for my good. When I was older and allowed to sip the delicious opalescent wine that same grandmother made from dandelions I thought there was nothing pleasanter. And I still love to find the tiny first leaves of the dandelion and make them into a spring salad, with a fairly sharp boiled dressing instead of mayonnaise, and perhaps some chopped up hard boiled eggs. This salad also thins the blood, and purifies it, and it tastes delicious. As a beauty treatment, three such salads a week for two or three weeks would be splendid.

The other ancient remedy I have in mind is sulphur and molasses which I always liked as it tasted like candy, but which some people hated more than I ever hated the dandelion tea. Now bromine and molasses comes in neat little yellow lozenges, sweet and with an acid taste that kills the sulphur taste. These lozenges, too, are very good if the skin is blotchy or the digestion out of order, or if the whole body seems heavy and lethargic with the first hot spell.

Some blood thinning remedy should be taken at this time. P. M.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, and if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

Emblem Breakfast

Mrs. E. M. Lazard, chairman of emblems for Los Angeles district, California Federation of Women's clubs, who was honored guest yesterday at the emblem breakfast at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse, was high in her praise of work done this year by Mrs. Ernest A. Carr, chairman of emblems for the Tuesday Afternoon club. She stated that Mrs. Carr had made a finer record than any other chairman in the district. She also complimented Mrs. Carr on her work in arranging the affair yesterday. The breakfast table was beautifully decorated in yellow and green, Scotch broom and marigolds being the flowers used. May baskets and doll place cards were at the places. Mrs. Carr was assisted by Mesdames H. E. Clough, Kingsley, Moore and Nichols. The prize for five-hundred was won by Mrs. Bennett, and prizes for bridge by Mrs. McCulloch and Mrs. Carr.

Honor Mothers

Mrs. F. B. McGowan and her sister, Mrs. E. Eggleston, entertained a group of mothers Saturday at their home, 750 Cordova street, Rossmore. A six-course luncheon was served. The centerpiece on the table was a miniature doll with grey hair and dressed as a mother, holding a baby in its arms. Place cards, suggestive of "Mothers' Day" were used, and each mother present was presented with a bouquet of flowers and a "Mothers' Day" card. Guests were: Mesdames J. A. McGowan, O. H. Russell, A. R. Holt and Rose McLachlin of Glendale, Eggleston and Markwell of Huntington Park.

On Club Program

Tilda Rohr, well-known contralto singer of Southern California, who is a favorite with radio fans, was guest artist this afternoon at the "Mothers' Day" program given at the Tuesday Afternoon club by the Males and Young Matrons' department. She was accompanied by Mrs. O. E. Ghrist. Miss Rohr sang the mother's aria from "The Prophet" (Meyerbeer), a selection well suited to her voice, which is of wide range. Miss Rohr is to give a concert Monday night, June 1, at Los Angeles Ebell clubhouse.

Tells of China

Mrs. Arthur Terrill, who resided in China for four years, continued her lecture on "China" yesterday morning at the meeting of the Travel department of Tuesday Afternoon club, at the clubhouse. Mrs. H. B. Woodhill, curator, presided. Mrs. Terrill had on display pieces of art and articles used by the Chinese people, with which she illustrated her talk. Several visitors were present for the meeting.

A food sale will be held Saturday, May 19, at Porter's Furniture store, West Broadway and South Orange street by the J. O. C. class of Pacific Avenue Methodist church. Mrs. Byrd Wilson is chairman of the committee in charge.

Annual Picnic

Mutual Benefit Reading Circle will round out the present year Wednesday, June 17, with the annual picnic, held in Patterson park. Plans for the outing were made at the circle meeting yesterday at the public library. Mrs. H. V. Henry, chairman, appointed as picnic committees, Mrs. Rathbone, Mrs. O. H. Spradling, Mrs. Pomeroy, program Mrs. Rowe, Mrs. E. B. Moore, Mrs. Mae Rosenberg, courtesy; Mrs. Taylor, Mrs. H. F. Croft, Mrs. R. H. Thew, order committee; Mrs. L. H. Thompson, C. L. Viereck, A. T. Wintersgill, Ralph Brown. Through the follow-up committee of the circle former members will be invited to attend the picnic. Each member is to bring one guest. Reservations are to be made before June 10 with Mrs. H. V. Henry, Glendale 37-W, or Mrs. E. W. Cizek, Glendale 2366-M.

At the meeting yesterday letters were read from Mrs. Charles H. Toll, founder of the circle, complimenting Mrs. H. V. Henry and circle members on their activity in spreading reading circle organization throughout district and state, and Mrs. H. F. Croft, historian for Glendale Federation. Parent-Teacher associations, for her splendid report, published in The Glendale Evening News. Mrs. E. W. Bicknell gave a review of the article, "Are You Living in the Sulphur and Molasses Age?" by Dr. Thomas Thornburn. Thirty-five women answered roll call. Mrs. Henry read the chapter on "Health" from Charlotte Perkins Gilman's book, "The House of the Green Gables." Next week she will read the chapter on "Domestic Entertainment." Mrs. Henry states that many interesting home problems are being discussed at circle meetings, to which all women of Glendale are invited.

Present Program

The American Citizenship and Loyalty department of the Tuesday Afternoon club presented a splendid program at the clubhouse yesterday afternoon. Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, club president, who was in attendance and spoke, complimented the department on the fine work done by the curator, Miss Ida D. Myers.

Featuring the program were the reading of the two plays "If the Shoe Fits," by Mrs. Max Lynn Green, and "Verily" by Mrs. A. L. Bryant. Both Mrs. Green and Mrs. Bryant received honors in the play contest in Los Angeles district, the former receiving second prize, and the latter honorable mention. Patriotic songs were sung by Mrs. John W. Cotton, accompanied by Miss Gladys Sharpe. Most enjoyable was Van Dyke's "America For Me," included in Mrs. Cotton's song group. The meeting opened with the flag salute and singing of "America" and closed with the rendition of "The American's Creed." Hostesses during the social hour were Mesdames Chester Williams, H. W. Duncan, L. E. Richardson and Miss Hazel White.

Bridge Luncheon

Members of the Double Six Bridge club entertained yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Rose McLachlin, 637 North Isabel street. Luncheon was served at 1 o'clock at card tables decorated with bouquets of roses. Bridge was played during the afternoon and prizes were awarded to Mrs. G. O. Russell and Mrs. J. Neill Farrell. Guests were Mesdames Eva Brume and Elva McLachlin and Mrs. E. Eggleston, and members present were: Mesdames F. H. Clark, J. O'Neill Farrell, J. E. Campbell, L. W. Russell, J. Elder Frank Brown, of the Latter-Day Saints' church, Los Angeles, officiated. The wedding was witnessed by immediate relatives. Mr. and Mrs. Powers will make their home in Burbank.

Chapter Meeting

Mrs. Alice Carter of 417 North Kenwood street will be hostess tomorrow at the meeting of chapter BA, P. E. O. The meeting will be held at 11 o'clock and luncheon will be served later. The program will include talks on California artists by Mrs. Effie Preston and California composers and song-writers by Mrs. Fern Clark.

CHICAGO BACKING EDUCATION PLANS

Two Windy City Universities Break Ground For Huge School Buildings

By O. L. SCOTT

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1923. CHICAGO, May 14.—While perennial pessimists everywhere preach that the young people of today are headed straight for the perdition bowdows, practical people of Chicago are backing up their faith in this same youth by investing millions upon millions of new dollars in the higher educational institutions located here. Both the University of Chicago and Northwestern university have turned ground for the start of their greatest expansion projects. Only the willingness of an older and successful generation to bank its hard earned cash on its faith in the abilities of the present day young men and women, has made possible the tremendous developments just set under way.

At the University of Chicago a group of structures to house the medical school is being built at an initial cost of $5,400,000. Two blocks of buildings, forming a unit unsurpassed for its architectural beauty, and its practical utility for instruction, are involved in the initial construction. Others are to come later.

Other Advancement
At Northwestern university, the $5,300,000 downtown campus is made a reality by the commencement of work on the $4,000,000 medical-dental building and the $1,100,000 dental building. Eventually $25,000,000 of buildings, all made possible by gifts of persons having faith in the worthiness of modern youth, will be located on this downtown campus of the Northwestern university professional schools.

An ambitious campaign for $17,500,000 is being made by the University of Chicago and it is meeting an enthusiastic response with over $8,000,000 already raised. Great gifts are unhesitatingly made so that this institution can make unprecedented strides ahead in its efforts to turn out trained men for business and for the professions.

The significant thing is that successful business and professional leaders are backing, with immense piles of cash, their belief that young people are more earnest in their search for knowledge than ever before.

SHULER SPEAKS HERE

Rev. Bob Shuler, pastor of Trinity Methodist church, Los Angeles will speak tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the Broadway Methodist church, South. The meeting tonight is the fourth in the special services being held during "Southern Methodist Get Acquainted Week" in Glendale. Music will be furnished by the Trinity choir of Los Angeles.

There will be no fellowship dinner tonight at the Broadway Methodist church, South.

SELECT SECRETARY

L. H. Boydston of 241 West San Fernando boulevard, Burbank, is chairman of the committee from the Associated Chamber of Commerce of San Fernando, to select a part-time secretary. Activities of the organization have grown to such proportions that a secretary is needed. Mr. Boydston states that he is looking for a man with executive ability.

To crochet a sacque, with cap to match, for cool summer days for the little girl, aged from two to three years, buy seven balls of three-fold white Saxony wool or blue Saxony. Use a number three bone or celluloid crochet hook.

Begin by chaining 71 with the white Saxony. Work 70 S. C. on the chain. Work seven inches of S. C. always taking up both loops of previous row. Chain one and turn at end of each row. Now increase one stitch at each end every row three times, then each a chain of 36 stitches at each end for sleeves, work 35 S. C. on each chain, work three and one-half inches, and on the next row work 67 S. C.; work three rows on these 67 stitches, then increase one stitch toward the front every row 12 times. When leave measures seven inches, leave the 35 stitches at end of sleeve, then decrease one stitch every row toward the underarm three times; work two inches on this length till front is as long as back. Make other front to correspond. Sew up underarm and sleeves, work one inch of S. C. down each front and around the bottom, increasing at corners, work one double crochet in every other stitch with one chain between each D. C. around neck and fronts (for heading), then Join color and work three treble crochet in first st. * two T. C. in next st., three T. C. in next stitch, repeat * three times around, working a picot every third stitch. Cuff: With white, work one row of D. C. one inch of S. C., one row of D. C. and then join color and finish same as front of sacque. Draw ribbon through all heading.

Cap: With white chain 31, work 30 S. C. on chain, work four inches of S. C., then work one S. C. in each row on side of piece just made. Next, work across the back and forth for seven inches. Join same as on sacque, make a row of heading and finish with a fringe. Turn cap edge back two inches and trim with ribbon.

LABOR MOVES TO OPPOSE GAS TAX

Governor Told Southland And Unions Are Against Three-Cent Raise

By BEN G. KLINE
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.
SAN FRANCISCO, May 14.—The desire to flatter makes strange bedfellows, might run as a modern version of an old saying. Its truth is illustrated in present opposition to California's gas tax bill, passed recently by the state legislature and now in the hands of Governor Friend W. Richardson for signature or rejection. The bill would raise the gas tax from 2 to 3 cents, 2 cents as formerly going to maintenance and the added cent to new construction.

During the long struggle in the state legislature over the measure the Standard Oil Co. was one of its strongest opponents. This company conducted its fight in the open, contending that to make one industry supply the funds for all road construction would not be fair. It held that good roads benefited all and that gasoline producers should not have to stand all the burden of their construction. Despite this and other opposition, however, the bill was passed.

Governor Richardson recently returned from a visit to Los Angeles to discuss with leaders there some 750 bills upon which gubernatorial action has not yet been taken. The people of the state are more interested in the gas tax measure than any of the others. No intimation of what action the governor will take has been permitted to leak out, but it is known that he found opposition to the bill in the southern city. Some of this opposition is said to have been evidenced by political leaders who supported Richardson for governor, but more was expressed by labor elements.

Labor Opposition
"I believe laboring men of all classes in Southern California oppose the increase in gasoline tax," E. E. Lampton, secretary-treasurer of the district carpenters' council, is quoted as saying. "They operate their own cars to convey themselves and their tools to and from their work. This tax would mean to them a reduction in wages."

Merchants in Los Angeles said their cars were operated mainly on the city streets and should therefore not be taxed to support state roads. Thus there is found an alignment of labor, merchant and capital.

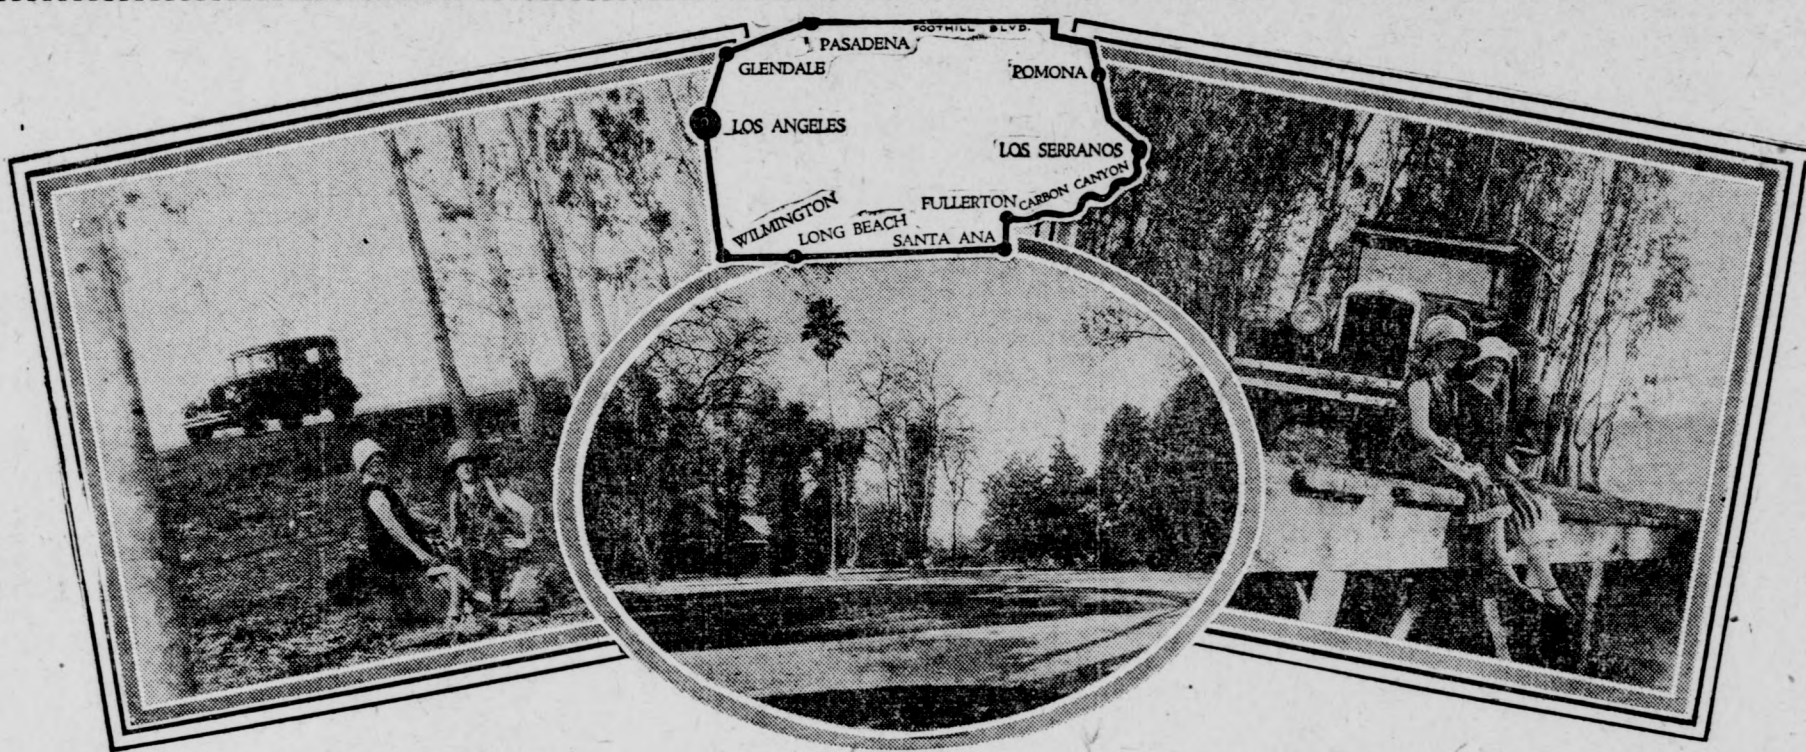

Sentiment in central and north California supports the measure, however, and the vote in the legislature in its favor no doubt reflects a majority of opinion throughout the state. If it is not signed by the governor there will be virtually no funds for new road construction in the state for two

Circle Tour Takes Motorist to Historic Spots

With the advent of perfect touring weather, travel trips are becoming more and more popular. One of the trips that can be taken with ease, and which will lead the motorist to a number of historic spots prominent in the early days of California's struggle for supremacy, is outlined by JOHN NEUSCHAEFER, Oakland dealer in Glendale, located at 420 East

Road to Yuma Is Given Final Travel Touch

Welding the final link in the improvement of the stretch of transcontinental highway between the California sand hills and Yuma, new bridges have been completed over the irrigation canal on the trunk line connecting the Arizona city with El Centro and the Imperial valley, according to an announcement received by the touring bureau of the Automobile club of Southern California. Motor traffic is now flowing over the bridges.

MOVE POPULATION

If every motor car in California were only of roadster capacity, it would be possible to move the entire population of the state at one time, according to statisticians of the Automobile Club of Southern California.

CAMPERS' HINT DROPPED BY AUTO CLUB

National Body Tells What To Carry on Trip Into Mountains

With the summer touring season at hand and thousands of California motorists looking forward to a vacation in the forest areas of the state, the pilgrimage of campers will soon be on its way over the highways and byways, according to the touring bureau of the National Automobile club.

For those who contemplate a camping trip for their vacation this summer, the following equipment is recommended:

First, procure a dependable tent, preferably equipped with a canvas floor and a single pole which folds up into a compact form and which can conveniently be carried on the running board or on the back of the machine.

Practical Cots
Folding cots are the most practical if you wish to travel light, and these should be equipped with folding mattresses of good quality. A comfortable bed on a camp-trip is a most important item. The most practical type of rug for stretching the tent is a large mat, as these are easily driven even into the hard ground and can easily be removed while wooden pegs usually last only for two or three times the tent is pitched.

Don't forget a plentiful supply of blankets, for if you intend to camp in the Sierras, the temperature during the early part of the summer may be lower than you ordinarily encounter in the winter months on the lower levels.

A good gasoline stove equipped with a folding oven is another essential for the comfortable camp. In addition to this, you should procure a nest of aluminum cooking utensils which can be secured at any automobile accessory house. A good hand ax, a dunnage bag and a running board carrier are excellent things to take along.

The most important recommendation to anyone planning a camping trip for the summer is to travel with as little equipment as possible. The usual method of the average camper is to take along everything movable in the house and very often on the steep grades the engine overheats. Besides, much difficulty is encountered in packing and unpacking.

CARBON MONOXIDE

Much has been printed of late regarding the dangers of carbon monoxide. Motorists are warned by the National Automobile club that this deadly poison is given off in the exhaust gases of automobile engines. The collection of carbon monoxide in closed garages has been a frequent cause of asphyxiation. There has been no exaggeration to this danger and motorists should be continually on their guard against this insidious menace. According to statistics compiled by underwriters, many death claims are paid for asphyxiation from this cause.

State Contemplates 2 Highway Projects

The California Highway commission has advertised for bids for the construction of two additional state highway projects in Southern California, one in Riverside county and the other in Los Angeles county. Bids will be opened in Sacramento, June 1.

In Riverside county, a reinforced concrete bridge 480 feet long will be constructed over the Coachella storm drain on the trunk highway extending into the Imperial valley. The project was included in the commission's 1925 budget for primary construction as recently submitted to the state senate.

The Los Angeles county project is for paving one-half the width of a 56-foot pavement on the Whittier boulevard between Monrovia and Whittier, a distance of 3.34 miles. The remainder of the street will be improved by a special improvement district and Los Angeles county. The new state pavement will be nine inches thick.

The Whittier project is a part of the reconstruction program for the year 1925 and will be paid for with gasoline tax funds. The commission has already awarded a contract for the building of a new bridge over the San Gabriel river on this route.

CAR REGISTRATION

California had the largest numerical increase in motor car registrations of any state in the union, during the year 1924, according to statistics compiled by the National Automobile club. The numerical increase in registration in this state was 219,111. The state of New York was a close second with an increase of 208,666.

CARS IN U. S.

Of the total number of automobiles in the world, 87% are in the United States. The Automobile club of Southern California points out that of these seventeen million cars, one-thirteenth are in California.

MOTOR TRAVEL TO YOSEMITE CALLED FIT

Southland Auto Club Places O. K. On Roads Leading Into National Park

In response to thousands of inquiries regarding Yosemite park, the touring bureau of the Automobile club of Southern California sent out a scouting party and announces that motorists in Southern California may drive to Yosemite over an excellent road via the Ridge, Fresno, and Madera, leaving the pavement there and continuing over a boulevard type of gravel and dirt road through Raymond and Miami lodge to Wawona, taking in the side trip to the Mariposa grove of big trees in which all roads have been opened and placed in excellent condition in preparation for the expected heavy summer motor travel.

Although within the next 18 months there will be completed a two-way road from Wawona via Chinquapin and Inspiration Point to the floor of the valley, at present it is necessary that motorists bear in mind there will be but one control into the valley from Inspiration Point from 5 o'clock in the afternoon until 9 o'clock at night.

No Inconvenience
This should not inconvenience motorists in the least, says the touring bureau, as by driving from Los Angeles to Fresno or Madera, or even to Miami Lodge or Wawona the first night they will easily consume the morning hours, and undoubtedly until 2 or 3 o'clock in driving through the Mariposa Grove, taking in both the lower and upper grove of trees, then the Fallen Monarch, Grizzly Giant, and through the Wawona and California trees which have been cut to permit motorists to drive their cars through the trees themselves, and will therefore not reach Chinquapin before 4:00 or 4:30 o'clock.

By so doing, they will not be delayed at all in that the control from Chinquapin opens at 4:30 and there is no control after that hour to stop one driving the remaining distance to the valley. This will bring one to Camp Curry or Yosemite Lodge in ample time for supper.

Leaving Yosemite
In leaving Yosemite the control is open to out-bound travel from 5 a. m. until 8 a. m. and as there is no travel into the park until late afternoon, the road is clear to Wawona and it is easily possible to drive the 21½ miles from the valley floor to Wawona in two to two and a quarter hours.

Not for years have the waterfalls been so full, nor has there been so much snow on the surrounding mountains, and back on the high Sierras the entire range is covered with snow many feet in depth which insures ample water the entire season. All trails are open in the valley as well as to Glacier Point.

The touring bureau is prepared to assist motorists in making reservations and planning their trips to Yosemite if desired.

SHIP BUILDING

The decline in British shipbuilding is now ascribed to a slump in naval building, depression in world trading and successful competition, notably in Holland and Germany, where vessel construction costs are lower.

National Park Openings Will Attract Many

With the opening dates of the national parks near at hand, it is indicated that greater crowds than ever before will visit these great outdoor recreation areas of the people.

Opening dates announced recently are that Sequoia and General Grant National parks on the outskirts of Southern California will be opened May 24.

Some of these great national playgrounds are opened the year around, such as Yosemite in California, Grand Canyon in Arizona, Hot Springs in Arkansas, Rocky Mountains in Colorado, and the Platte Park in Oklahoma.

Later openings are announced by the touring bureau of the Automobile Club of Southern California as follows: Lassen Volcano National Park in Northern California, June 1; Glacier National Park in Montana and Mt. Rainier in Washington will open June 15; Yellowstone National Park opens June 18; and the last to open is Crater Lake, in Oregon, to which the public will be admitted July 1.

Three Steam Shovels Working On Highway

There are three steam shovels rushing work to complete the new Cahuenga Pass highway, according to a bulletin issued by the touring department of the National Automobile club. A shovel is working west from the big retaining wall, while another is working east from the entrance of Mulholland Drive with Cahuenga boulevard. The third shovel is on the hill and is working toward the Mulholland Drive shovel.

According to the plan announced, broad asphalt shoulders will be temporarily laid until work is started on the permanent pavement from Highland avenue to Lankershim boulevard.

Santa Ana Official To Enforce Speed Law

The new city recorder of Fullerton, George L. Story, has expressed his intention of following the plan of the late Judge Cox of Santa Ana and his successor, Judge Morrison, in his manner of dealing with automobile speeders, according to the National Automobile club.

"A person who drives his car at an excessive rate of speed through the business district of a town endangers the lives of everyone on the streets," said the new recorder, "and as far as possible, I intend to stop it. Speeders who are cited to appear before me will find little sympathy, if adjudged guilty."

MOTORING DAYS

Southern California has more days in the year when motoring is enjoyable than any other section of the United States. This serves to attract tens of thousands of eastern motorists, according to the touring bureau of the Automobile Club of Southern California.

History Data On Southwest Is Requested

What do you know about the history of the early Spanish in the southwest? If you have any data on this subject, the touring bureau of the Automobile club of Southern California and the department of the interior of the government would like to have them. Especially do they want anything pertaining to the inscriptions on El Morro Rock in El Morro National Monument near Gallup, New Mexico.

These ancient writings carved on the rocks were discovered in 1849 by two United States army officers. The investigations by scouts of the touring bureau of the Automobile club indicate that these inscriptions are the only known records of the Spanish occupation of Santa Fe, New Mexico.

Complete data are desired and the co-operation of the University of California, historic department has been sought to obtain all existing data. Many inquiries regarding these inscriptions come to the Automobile club of Southern California touring bureau, and it is hoped that by sending out an S. O. S. to the public, some student of early history in California will be found who can throw some light on the facts now veiled in mystery.

SCENIC MOTOR TRIP GIVEN TOURISTS

Balch Park, Tulare County, Suggested As Three-Day Wonder Journey

By GIL A. COWAN

Written for The Evening News
A three-day trip for the Glendale motorist seeking scenic wonders and a wonderful spot for the camper this summer was described to the writer by H. C. Morrison of Porterville. It is Balch park in Tulare county from whence the Centennial big tree came for the Philadelphia exposition. The stump still stands and not until a committee from congress in the early days had taken the measurements was it believed that such a tree ever grew.

Tulare and Porterville are the first legs of the journey to Balch park from Glendale. They are six or eight hours away, depending on whether you go over the Ridge route or the Tehachapi. Leaving Porterville early in the morning it is possible to see the park in the afternoon, according to Mr. Morrison, although many people prefer to take their camping equipment along and spend several days among the majestic mountains and trees of this new Sierra playground, the closest and most accessible, perhaps, to the Southland.

Lady Alice Tree
Lady Alice tree in this park is twenty feet in diameter, 310 feet tall and approximately 5000 years old. It is 200 feet to the first limb, according to Morrison. It is large enough to build a fence from Porterville to Los Angeles and back again, or furnish lumber for sixteen four-room houses.

The Centennial tree's stump is as big as the ordinary dance floor and it is told that the tree had to be moved in sections to get it to the Philadelphia exposition. Other trees provide parking places for an automobile in their hollow trunks. And one has been utilized for a three-room house with upstairs sleeping quarters by a hermit.

Among the sights to be seen by the motorist is Mount Maggie, a pile of rock stacked 11,000 feet in the air, across a dazzling canyon from the park. The wonderland is reached by a highway leading out of Porterville and a very passable mountain road. Tulare county this summer is surveying the road for widening and improvement, Mr. Morrison states.

SIGNS FOR SAFETY

Nearly one-half of the 150,000 signs placed throughout this section by the Automobile club of Southern California are designed for the safety of the motorist.

Recovering Stolen Autos

The theft bureau of the National Automobile club, whose operations extend throughout the western United States, is in constant warfare with the motor car thief. The bureau operates in close co-operation with the police authorities of the various cities and aims not only in the prevention of theft but also for the apprehension of individual thieves and groups of thieves in the various districts.

A theft gang operating in Southern California was broken up a short time ago by the theft bureau operatives working with the sheriffs and police officers from the south and a number of cars which had been transported into Mexican territory were recovered and brought back to California.

The motor numbers of all of these cars had been filed off so as to prevent detection and new numbers had been superimposed on the motor block. By the operation of a secret process which is controlled by the theft bureau of the National Automobile club, the original numbers were brought to light and the cars were identified to the satisfaction of the Mexican authorities.

One of Weapons

This is only one of the many weapons employed by the bureau to combat the clever operations of the thieves. But it is making it more and more difficult for the men engaged in the business of stealing and selling cars and accessories to carry on their operations with success.

A new provision to the present Motor Vehicle act proposed by the National Automobile club theft bureau provides restrictions on the exportation of cars, a definite check on records and provides for notices to be given to the police authorities when automobiles have been abandoned in garages in California. This legislation, together with the certificate of title law, which is now a part of the California code, saves thousands of dollars every year, not only to the insurance companies but also for the individual motorist whose car may not be under the protection of an insurance policy.

'GOOD WILL' ASSET DEALER EXPLAINS

Studebaker Distributor Tells Compelling Force Of Name In Business

The most powerful asset of any motor car company is the compelling force of its good-will, according to R. L. Conover, vice-president of the Packer Motor Co., 300 South Brand boulevard, Glendale Studebaker distributors.

"Should, perchance, all the physical property and assets of all motor car companies in the United States be obliterated tomorrow," said Conover, "there would still remain that force of good-will which would materially assist in recreating institutions that had learned how to win and hold good will."

"It has been recognized for some time in the motor car industry as in most progressive lines of business that a worthy product gains through the years a popular, recognized acceptance. The sales value of this public acceptance is almost impossible to estimate."

PUBLIC TOLD HOW DEALERS GIVE AID

McDaniel Motor Co., Local Car Distributor, Tells Seller's Big Part

"Car buyers are beginning to examine the specifications of the car dealer," says Chas. McDaniel, of McDaniel Motor Co., 1234 South Brand boulevard. "They want to know something about him as well as the car he sells."

"This is perfectly right. A lot of folks don't find out 'why' is an automobile dealer until after they have bought two or three cars. "If the dealer served no purpose but to deliver the new car, there wouldn't be any place for him in the modern world—people would buy autos by mail direct from the factory."

"One has only to think how helpless would be the car owner without the local institutions that exist to serve him, in order to appreciate the value of the local responsibility the conscientious dealer gives to every car he sells."

Making Success of Loans
To Auto Owners

Stressing the personal equation in business, J. V. Rea, of the J. V. Rea Investment Co., 128 West Wilson street, has doubled and trebled his loans to Glendale residents during the eight months that he has conducted his business here.

Rea, formerly connected with the Federal Commercial & Savings bank, which he helped to organize, declares that banking depends almost wholly upon injection of the personal equation. He believed that an automobile loan business could be made a success if operated along the same lines. With him it has proved successful.

Offering virtually the lowest rates, Rea has never had to repossess an automobile on an individual loan. That, he believes is his best recommendation. When help is needed, he can give it, where a big corporation is unable to grant concessions.

CHRYSLER BUYER LAUDS ROADSTER

Local Dealer Recalls Record
Held By This Car Over
More Than Decade

Last September a Chrysler roadster was sold to Norman A. Smith of South Bend, Ind., according to reports received by Lyman P. Clark of the Glendale Motor Car Co., 124 West Colorado street, local Maxwell-Chrysler dealers. After driving it 5000 miles through the United States and Canada he took it to New Zealand. In a letter received by the South Bend dealer the following news was included: "I brought it out to New Zealand with me, and it has excited admiration wherever I have been. The water you put in the radiator is still there, and I have not so far found it necessary to add one drop."

Extra large water passage completely surrounds each cylinder and valve in the Chrysler, explains Clark. They give a minimum of one-half inch of clear water circulation space between each cylinder and consequently, overheating is a negative factor in the Chrysler motor.

BUICK STANDS ON 20 YEARS' USAGE

Indiana Man Writes Glendale Dealer Of Worth Of Car On Long Trip

Leadership does not come by chance, in the opinion of William A. Tanner of Tanner & Hall, Brand and Maple street, Glendale Buick dealers. "It is only the reward of merit," he claims. "And it can be retained only so long as it is deserved."

"It is interesting to recall, therefore, that Buick leadership in the automobile field dates from the building of the first Buick car more than twenty years ago and that today it is more firmly established than ever."

"This wonderful record shows unmistakably that Buick has always had those qualities necessary for success. It was built on sound principles in the beginning and it has held firmly to those principles for more than twenty years, though like a true leader it has constantly introduced improvements and refinements in automobile design."

Sugar is being made from weeds by a process recently perfected in the United States.

CHEVROLET PLAN SELLS MANY CARS

Six Per Cent Purchase Policy
Brings Sales Totalling
Over $6,000,000

Cars and trucks aggregating $6,000,000 have been sold under the Chevrolet 6 per cent purchase certificate plan since this copy-righted method was inaugurated among Chevrolet dealers seven months ago, according to James V. Hough, Orange and Colorado streets, Glendale distributor.

The plan, regarded as a fundamental improvement in automotive merchandising, has met with such uniform approval that now more than 2000 certificates are sold each month.

Under its provisions a prospective car owner may start with an initial payment as low as $5. If desired, a larger first payment can be made. This is followed by weekly or monthly installments suiting the convenience of the purchaser. These payments are entered on the back of the certificate when they, plus 6 per cent, reach one-third of the retail price the car is delivered.

JEWETT CAR HAS CLIMBING RECORD

Paige-Detroit Distributors
Explain Why This Car
Is Perfect Machine

When the Paige-Detroit Motor Car Co. had proven through a score of hill climbs and other competitions with rival manufacturers that its Jewett Six was superior in performance to the products of the rivals, attention of the engineering department was turned to the many refinements that go into the power plant and chassis of a motor car, according to D. R. Tomkins, of the D. R. Tomkins Motor Co., 219 West Colorado street.

The hill climbs throughout the country were won in every instance by the Jewett specials in 1924. This was the special chassis as has now been perfected and is being used in the new Jewett Six models of 1925. But superior power and performance did not satisfy the Jewett engineers. Even the most minute details must be worked out, they said. Among these was absolute elimination of noise and vibration in the water pump and generator assembly. The completed machine is now a masterpiece, Tomkins says.

PACKARD DEALER SEES FOURTH ERA

McDaniels, Local Distributor,
Predicts Epoch Period
Of Car Service

When this year draws to a close, the laurel wreaths of success in the automotive industry will be bestowed upon those who have not only made good motor cars, but who also have created, through sheer, honest effort that intangible force spoken of as good will, according to William H. McDaniels of the Dixie Motor Co., 1129 South Brand boulevard, local Packard distributors.

"This industry, in my opinion, is entering upon the fourth epoch of its career," said McDaniels. "The early days of the industry formed the mechanical era, when success or failure depended mainly on the engineering staff. Then followed the production era, which developed marvelous machinery and manufacturing methods. Next came the third epoch, the selling era, when production over-ran demand. Now we are facing the fourth era, the service epoch."

HUDSON-ESSEX IS SETTING RECORD

Local Dealer Kelley Says
Company Enjoys Best
Year In History

Never before in the history of Hudson-Essex cars has the company enjoyed the overwhelming popularity which is being shown for the new models in all sections of the country, according to Porter A. Kelley of the Kelley Motor Co., 816 South Brand boulevard.

Reports from dealers in the various localities state that their display rooms where the new models are on exhibition are crowded constantly. Heavy orders, as the result, have made it necessary for the factory to increase its production schedule several hundred per cent to meet the rapidly increasing demand. The factory working forces have been enlarged and the working time schedule lengthened.

So insistent is the cry from dealers for more cars that many too impatient to wait for train delivery of their cars have, of late, been going to the factory to take away large driveways, Kelley said.

COTTON GROWERS

SACRAMENTO, May 14.—The California cotton growers have finished planting with approximately 165,000 acres under cultivation as against 140,000 last year. The only fall in acreage was in the Imperial valley, where only 40,000 acres were planted, as against 79,000 in 1924.

REO DEALER TELLS GAS IMPORTANCE

Economy In Fuel Decidedly Important, Bert Allison Informs Autoists

Decided emphasis has been given to gasoline economy in motor car operation through the increasing number of states that are adopting a gasoline tax in the opinion of Bert Allison of the Reo Glendale Motors Co., 124 South Orange street.

On the Pacific coast particularly there has always been a keen interest in economical motor car operation, he states, as attested by the fact that two of the most popular annual automobile contests here featured gasoline economy.

"A motor can be both powerful and economical at the same time," says Allison. "A motor that is powerful alone, without economy, is wasteful. It is just as sensible to wear rubber boots all the time to be prepared in case of rain, as it is to have an overpowered motor with consequent waste for the occasional hill climbing that the average person requires in the daily use of his motor car."

An automobile shaped like a whale to permit space for advertising signs has been perfected in Germany.

SPEED CLASSIC IS WON ON RICHFIELD

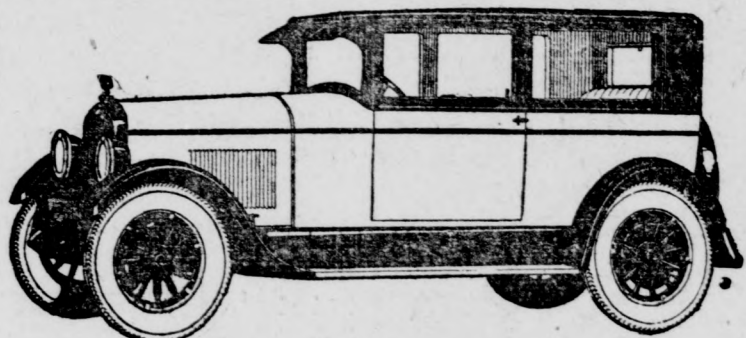

Earl Cooper Captures Race With Both Oil, Gas In Racer's Tank

Three swift young Californians, to wit: Messrs. Earl Cooper, Harry Hartz and Tommy Milton, not only swept to victory in the Charlotte, N. C., annual 250-mile Dixie classic, staged last Monday, the Confederate Memorial day, but also did this with made-in-California gasoline in their tanks.

Following general press wires from Charlotte, to the effect that Cooper won the race, establishing a new track record of 122.03 miles per hour, with Hartz and Milton, respectively, second and third, came a wire from Cooper that he used Richfield gasoline and Richlube oil in his machine. Hartz and Milton also swept into second and third money with this gasoline, whose colors are the same as the colors of the Native Sons of the Golden West, blue and gold.

"Richfield gasoline and Richlube oil, by their wonderful performance, helped me materially in establishing a new record," wired Cooper to C. M. Fuller, president of the Richfield Oil Co.

CHRYSLER LAUDED FOR GAS SAVING

Dealer In Another Brand Of Car Takes This In Favor Of Own Product

There are some motor car dealers who don't always drive the cars they sell, but who prefer to select their own private automobiles from another classification than that which represents the line they represent.

One of these is R. A. McLean of Eagle Rock, one of the best known dealers in Southern California, who has purchased a Chrysler roadster for his own use, making the purchase through the Glendale Motor Car Co., 124 West Colorado street, Chrysler and Maxwell dealer.

Early this week he dropped in to report the accomplishments of his car to Lyman P. Clark, the president of the company. He had just returned from a trip to Seattle, Wash., and in making the trip from Los Angeles to Seattle, a distance of 1356 miles, he covered the distance in 39 hours' actual running time, an average of close to 35 miles an hour over the entire stretch. The gasoline consumption on the run north was 19 miles to the gallon, which is regarded as excellent for a car that had only been driven less than 1000 miles before Mr. McLean started north.

"In all my experience with automobiles," Mr. McLean told Mr. Clark, "I have never ridden in or driven a car that can compare with the Chrysler for ease of riding and all-around excellence."

TIRES REPAIRED BY NEW PROCESS

Hooper Co. Installs Machine Specially For Balloon Type Of Runners

William H. Hooper & Co. of 222 East Broadway recently installed a Kehawke balloon tire repairing machine. The Hawkinson system, under which the Kehawke method is an improvement, is said to permit the operator to make repairs in less than half the time ordinarily taken on this work. Any size of balloon, cord or fabric tire, including large truck tires, can be repaired—whether it be a cut, puncture or blowout.

In the case of balloon tires, which are now so popular, the Kehawke system is said to be the most scientific repair method, as a patch can be used which is no thicker than the balloon tire itself, a light reinforcement making the repaired portion as strong as the original tire.

"This machine," said Mr. Hooper, "eliminated guesswork in repairing tires. The tire can be spread out so that every inch of it is exposed to the workman, making every defect visible and allowing the operator easy access to the part that needs to be mended."

NASH SETS MARK FOR APRIL SALES

McDaniel Motor Firm, Local Dealers, Says Previous Records Are Upset

Nash Motors has established another new sales and production record, according to announcement of the local dealer, which reads:

"April upset all previous marks, being the biggest production and sales month in the company's history, exceeding any previous month by 16.1 per cent. Reports from the offices of the Nash Motors Co. indicate that there is no let-up in the demand and with increased production at both the Kenosha and Milwaukee plants it is believed that May will wrest production and sales honors from April."

"During the month of April we shipped 82.8 per cent more cars than in April, 1924," said E. H. McCarty, general sales manager of the Nash Motors Co. "The most interesting feature of this new record is that cars are going into buyers' hands and, even though Nash factories are producing more cars than ever before, still the popularity of the new line is such that dealers throughout the country are carrying large lists of unfilled retail orders."

"This is the eighth consecutive month that Nash sales and production have eclipsed the corresponding month of last year."

The Nash complete line is shown in Glendale by the McDaniel Motor Co., 1234 South Brand boulevard.

DEALER POINTS TO WILLARD BATTERY

Glendale Distributor Praises New Product As Best On Any Market

Service as a means of creating good-will on the part of the motoring public is one of the most valuable assets of any kind of an automobile or accessory business, in the opinion of Henry M. Kuhn of the Cizek Auto Electric Co., 300 South Brand boulevard.

"The new charged, bone-dry Willard battery is the greatest battery improvement in recent years and is an exclusive Willard feature. This new improvement has been made possible by the famous threaded-rubber insulation and is a part of battery construction which was formerly a battery's weakest point, but is now entirely eliminated and is guaranteed by the Willard company to outlast the plates," he said.

The Cizek Auto Electric Co. is Glendale distributor of Willard batteries, but it makes no charge for testing and filling batteries with distilled water, regardless of the kind or make that is used in one's automobile.

HUPP EIGHT SETS NEW SALES MARK

Local Dealer Calls Newest Model 'America's Best Selling Machine'

The new Hupmobile eight is today America's largest selling motor car of the eight-in-line type, according to an announcement made in Detroit by O. C. Hutchinson, general sales manager of the son, general sales manager of the Hupp Motor Car corporation, H. V. White, manager of the H. W. Swanson Hupp agency, 228 South Brand boulevard, said today.

Newcomer in the field of eight, it has taken Hupmobile only four months to reach first position in that class.

"Ever since its first display, when 400,000 people went to our various distributors' and dealers' show rooms to see the car within thirty hours, exceeding all previous records for interest, sales of the car have grown at a remarkably fast rate," observes Mr. Hutchinson. "Output this month will be the largest yet reached. The car's unusual features have attracted to it more attention than has been accorded any new model in the last year or so, regardless of price."

AUTO SALES SHOW BUSINESS BOOM

Closed Car Habit Changes
Conditions Radically
To Boost Trade

By J. C. ROYLE
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1923.

DETROIT, Mich., May 14.—Business is exceedingly good in automobiles. While some industries are not riding the very crest of the prosperity wave, other lines and certain territorial divisions are very prosperous.

The motor industry reflects a general average of the nation and sales are showing it. Motor interests here are trying to decide whether this is to be just a "normal" year, with its bulge in the spring, slacker period in summer and a milder bulge in the fall, or whether business will be strong throughout the summer.

The closed-car habit has changed things immensely. Experience thus far this year shows that few buyers are looking for open cars. The Ford Co., the last stand of the open type, is nearing the point where its closed cars represent 50 per cent of production. Others such as Maxwell and Hudson are making about 90 per cent of the closed type to 10 per cent of the open bodies.

Price has been a factor in swinging buyers to the closed models, since manufacturers by turning their factories over to volume output have made possible closed cars at open car prices. One Detroit maker goes so far as to predict that at this time next year open cars will sell as much higher than closed types as the closed designs formerly sold above the touring car design. This however is regarded as an extreme view.

Open Sport Cars
A potent offset to the trend of the coach, sedan and limousine models, is seen in the exaggerated open sport cars. There has been an undoubted demand for the sport roadsters which have gone to great extremes in equipment with windshields, glass wings, glass rear seat partitions and other accessories aiding in achievement of the open appearance without being subjected to the annoyances of wind and rain.

The soundest judgment of prominent men in the industry, however, indicates that the urge which results in spring cleaning and house painting will continue to control the buying of new automobiles. These men feel spring always will see the peak buying of the year. What they hope to do is to extend this buying over a longer period.

Except for 1921 when extraordinary economic conditions prevailed, this is the first spring motor manufacturers have not resorted to double shifts to hustle out the largest number of cars in the briefest time. Factory heads hope to string out buying demand well over the summer months by keeping supply just under demand. In some companies, notably the Packard concerns, supply is several months behind the demand, but at the moment only one prominent plant is working over time.

Recent Price Cuts
The recent price cuts by the Hudson Co. were fully expected in the trade and no rate war is expected. Hudson has become the Ford of the higher priced motor producers. It is the policy of the Hudson company to continue to lower their prices to insure quantity output.

When the country is prosperous, it has been the experience of sales executives that buyers are willing to pay for a car that satisfies their whims both as to looks and performance. The buying urge of "eye appeal" is clearly shown by the tendency so often exhibited to handle Ford cars with a variety of special radiator designs, mirrors, spotlights and other accessories which tend, in the owner's estimation, to improve the car's appearance.

Although the Ford officials still are awaiting a chance to study the complaint brought against the company, its agents,

PRIZE GIVEN BY LUMBER COMPANY

Bill Ding Will Help Better Homes' Week In City
By His Contest

One of the features of Better Homes week in Glendale is the prize offered by the Bentley Lumber Co., 460 West Los Feliz road, through Donald R. Gillin, service manager, for the best answer to the question: "What Would Bill Ding Say?" The question is based on the company's advertisement, which appears elsewhere in this paper today, showing a picture of Bill Ding, a new home, flowers, a happy couple strolling down the path.

Contestants have merely to study the picture, write out their thought and mail it to the Bentley Lumber Co. The contest is open to all. Mr. Gillin, speaking of Better Homes week, says:

"The progress of a city is measured by the quality of its homes, and Better Homes week is an answer to President Coolidge's plea for the return to the old American ideals. Every American with the good of the country at heart realizes that our nation is founded on the hearthstone, is eager and willing to endorse this movement, and to join in making Better Homes week a successful affair."

BURBANK NEWS

BURBANK, May 14.—The Greater Burbank association, the chief mission of which will be to fight the proposed annexation of Burbank to Los Angeles, has been formed here at a meeting attended by a score of local residents opposed to annexation. J. D. Radcliff is temporary chairman and W. P. Coffman temporary secretary. An election is to be called soon to vote on the annexation.

A sacred concert will be held at St. Jude's church on Sunday to aid in defraying the expense of recent improvements to the interior of the church building. A silver offering will be expected. Exceptional talent has been obtained from Los Angeles and surrounding cities.

Despite the fact that she was driving her automobile at nearly sixty miles an hour, Geraldine Herron, a Los Angeles woman, was released under suspended sentence by Police Judge Crawford after she testified that she had been taking a sick baby to a doctor, and that her speedometer was ten miles too slow.

Three representatives of a motion picture company were in the city recently in conference with a committee of Burbank citizens in connection with the establishment of a studio here. The purpose of the conference was to learn what kind of co-operation could be expected from Burbank citizens. The committee was favorably impressed and will spend the next few days in trying to find a proper location for the institution.

The board of City Trustees has announced to the local grove of Druids that the order will have the city as their own during the state convention to be held in Burbank June 15 to 18.

and the banks and railroads doing business with it by W. J. Miller, state revenue agent of Mississippi before commenting, the suit is not regarded here today as seriously menacing sales in Mississippi or elsewhere.

The Ford company has never had any difficulty in securing agents. Dealers are fighting for agencies and the inclusion of a clause in the agents contract fixing the resale price, which is charged in the complaint, scarcely seems essential. Agents, generally, it is believed, would conform to present usage even if the contract did not require it.

If sales are interfered with in Mississippi it is probable Mississippians will secure the car they want from Alabama, Georgia or Louisiana dealers.

CAPITAL WORRIES ON TRAFFIC ISSUE

Under Guidance of Congress
Washington Is Seeking To Untangle Snarl

By ROBERT MACK

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1923.
WASHINGTON, May 14.—Under the more or less wise guidance of the Congress of the United States, the city of Washington is endeavoring to solve the traffic problem. New laws authorized by Congress, which acts as city council for Washington, have just been put into effect and they involve some rather interesting experiments.

In the first place the speed limits have been sharply raised. Whereas most cities limit speed to fifteen miles an hour, Washington, under the new scheme of things, permits twenty-two miles an hour in the downtown congestion district and a maximum of thirty-five miles an hour in the outlying residential sections. Even downtown the speed of 22 miles is to be raised on certain thoroughfares just as soon as "express" signalling systems can be installed.

Other cities which think this speed possible in Washington because of light traffic may be reminded that a careful count of traffic during the past two weeks has disclosed that more automobiles pass a given point on Sixteenth street here during the rush hour than at any time of the day on Fifth avenue, New York.

Traffic Conference

Traffic experts from New York and other cities were called into consultation by Congress before the new laws and the new speed limits were passed. It is believed these laws eventually may serve as a model to the nation. Not that Congress often qualifies as a model—far from it—but in this instance there were no political considerations to befog the issue and Congress appears to have done a first class piece of work. In any event there were only eight street accidents the first day of the new laws—a most commendable reduction from former records.

Motorists the country over have claimed that archaic slow speed laws have been responsible for much of the traffic congestion in city streets. Washington, in effect, has told the automobile drivers to "go to it" to "step on the gas," but to "watch their steps" if there is the slightest indication of reckless work at the wheel.

Congress' Opinions

Congress has accepted the premise that a competent fast driver is less of a menace than a slow driver lacking confidence in his ability. But all speed in Washington, up to thirty-five miles an hour, must be tempered by safe and sane driving. The reckless penalties are heavy. Driving while intoxicated will bring jail sentences. To hit a person and run away, in the eyes of the new law, the most heinous offense of all, and will be treated accordingly.

The new law has provided special traffic courts, operating day and night, and the old system of accepting cash collateral virtually is abolished.

Pedestrians are called upon to watch their steps also. Even President Coolidge has been warned to "keep clear" when the traffic signals are against him. The president dearly loves to walk abroad on the most crowded streets at the rush hour of the afternoon. Dodging flying cars is his liveliest idea of an outdoor sport. It may be all very well for the president, but it gives his secret service guards several kinds of heart disease.

Un-guarded Street

At unguarded street intersections pedestrians have the right to stop traffic by holding up their hands in true traffic cop style. Heretofore the Washington motorists have "honk-honked" and scattered the walkers at will.

According to the residents of Washington—they call themselves residents instead of citizens because they cannot vote—Congress has been a rather indifferent success as a city council. Not a dollar can be spent by or in behalf of the taxpayers of the District of Columbia without the advice and consent of senate and house of representatives. Men from Main street legislate for Pennsylvania avenue. If Main streets lacks certain urban facilities and advantages, it is difficult to convince the gentlemen from the sticks that Pennsylvania avenue should be more favorably considered.

However, Washington is moving along. More and more visitors are coming here every year and they seem delighted at the beauty of their capital city. Maybe in time that pride of the average citizen will register with the men who sit in judgment on capital hill.

Mrs. Cheesman will have charge of the camp on Saturday.

No Increase in the Price of Firestone FULL-SIZE GUM-DIPPED BALLOONS

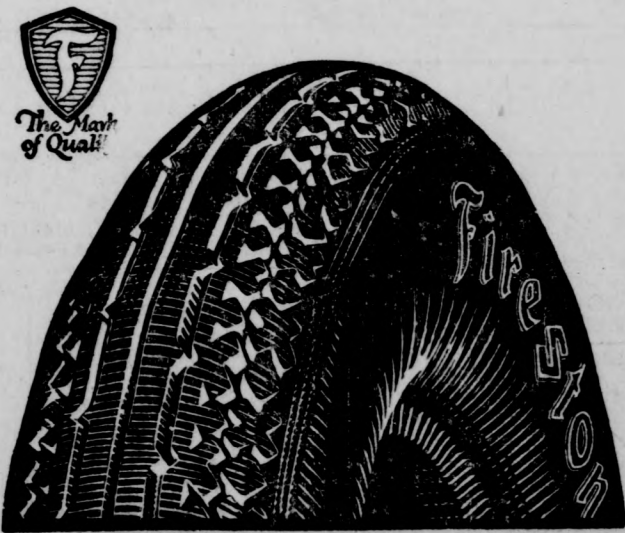

The extra quality built in by the extra process of Gum-Dipping, the economy of these wonderful tires and the added mileage obtained from them during the past two years, has created such a large demand that over 75% of Firestone's mammoth production is now Balloon Gum-Dipped Cords.

This naturally has greatly increased the total sales volume and the huge Firestone factories are now taxed to capacity, on a 24-hour schedule to supply the demand.

This large volume, produced under the most economical tire manufacturing methods, permits Firestone to sell these extra-process Full-Size Balloons at no extra cost to car owners. And this is in the face of the greatly advanced cost for crude rubber brought about by the operation of the British Rubber Restriction Act.

Bear in mind that Gum-Dipping means longer mileage—greater economy. But there is no extra cost to tire buyers!

The HOUSE Of The ARROW

A SERIAL STORY WRITTEN BY A. E. W. MASON
Protected by The McClure Newspaper Syndicate

"She was left rich, I suppose?"
Frobisher asked.

"Very well off, at all events," Mr. Haslitt replied. "The Clos du Prince Burgundy has a fine reputation, but there's not a great deal of it."

"Did she come to England ever?"

"Never," said Mr. Haslitt. "She was content, it seems, with Dijon, though to my mind the smaller provincial towns of France are dull enough to make one scream. However, she was used to it, and then her heart began to trouble her, and for the last two years she has been an invalid. There's nothing to help us there." And Mr. Haslitt looked across to Jim for confirmation.

"Nothing," said Jim.

"Then we are only left the child Betty Harlowe and—oh, yes, your correspondent, your voluminous correspondent, Ann Upcott. Who is she, Jim? Where did she spring from? How does she find herself in the Maison Grenelle? Come, confess, young man," and Haslitt archly looked at his junior partner. "Why should Boris Waberski expect her support?"

Jim Frobisher threw his arms wide.

"I have't an idea," he said. "I have never seen her. I have never heard of her. I never knew of her existence until that letter came this morning with her name signed at the end of it."

Mr. Haslitt started up. He crossed the room to his table and, fixing his folding glasses on the bridge of his nose, he bent over the letter.

"But she writes to you, Jim," he objected. "Dear Mr. Frobisher," she writes. She doesn't address the firm at all," and he waited, looking at Jim, expecting him to withdraw this denial.

Jim, however, only shook his head.

"It's the most bewildering thing," he replied. "I can't make head or tail of it; and Mr. Haslitt could not doubt now that he spoke the truth, so utterly and frankly baffled the young man was. "Why should Ann Upcott write to me? I have been asking myself that question for the last half hour. And why didn't Betty Harlowe write to you, who have had her affairs in your care?"

"Ah!"

That last question helped Mr. Haslitt to an explanation. His face took a livelier expression.

"The answer to that is in Waberski's, the second letter, Betty—she snap her fingers at his awkwardness. She doesn't take the charge seriously. She will have left to the French notary to dispose of it. Yes—I think that makes Ann Upcott's letter to you intelligible, too. The ceremonies of the law in a foreign country would frighten a stranger, as this girl is apparently more than they would Betty Harlowe, who has lived for four years in the midst of them. So she writes to the first name in the title of the firm, and writes to him as a man. That's it, Jim," and the old man rubbed his hands together in his satisfaction.

"A girl in terror wouldn't get any comfort out of writing to an abstraction. She wants to know that she's in touch with a real person. So she writes, 'Dear Mr. Frobisher.' That's it! You can take my word for it."

Mr. Haslitt walked back to his chair. But he did not sit down in it; he stood with his hands in his pockets, looking out of the window over Frobisher's head.

"But that doesn't bring us any nearer to finding out what is Boris Waberski's strong suit, does it?"

"We haven't a clue to it," he said ruefully.

To both of the men, indeed, Mr. Haslitt's flat, unillumined narrative of facts, without a glimpse into the characters of any of the participants in the little drama, seemed the most unhelpful thing. Yet the whole truth was written there—the truth not only of Waberski's move, but of all the strange terrors and mysteries into which the younger of the two men was now to be plunged. Jim Frobisher was to recognize that, when, shaken to the soul, he resumed his work in the office. For it was interrupted now.

Mr. Haslitt, looking out of the window over his partner's head, saw a telegraph boy come swinging across the square and hesitate in the roadway below.

"I expect that's a telegram for us," he said, with the hopeful anticipation people in trouble have that something from outside will happen and set them right.

Jim turned round quickly. The boy was still upon the pavement examining the numbers of the houses.

"We ought to have a brass plate upon the door," said Jim with a touch of impatience; and Mr. Haslitt's eyebrows rose half the height of his forehead towards his thick white hair. He was really distressed by the Waberski incident, but this suggestion, and from a partner in the firm, shocked him like a sacrilege.

"My dear boy, what are you thinking of?" he expostulated. "I hope I am not one of those obstinate old fogies who refused to march with the times. We have had, you know, a telephone instrument recently installed in the junior clerk's office. I believe that I myself proposed it. But a brass plate upon the door! My dear Jim! Let us leave that to Harley Street and Southampton Row! But I see that telegram is for us."

The tiny Mercury with his shako and red cord to his uniform made up his mind and disappeared into the hall below. The telegram was brought upstairs and Mr. Haslitt tore it open. He stared at it blankly for a few seconds, then without a word, but with a very anxious look in his eyes, he handed it to Jim Frobisher.

Jim Frobisher read:

"Please, please, send some one to help me at once. The Prefect of Police has called in Hanaud, a detective of the Surete in Paris. They must think me guilty. —Betty Harlowe."

The telegram fluttered from Jim's fingers to the floor. It was like a cry for help at night coming from a great distance.

"I must go, sir, by the night boat," he said.

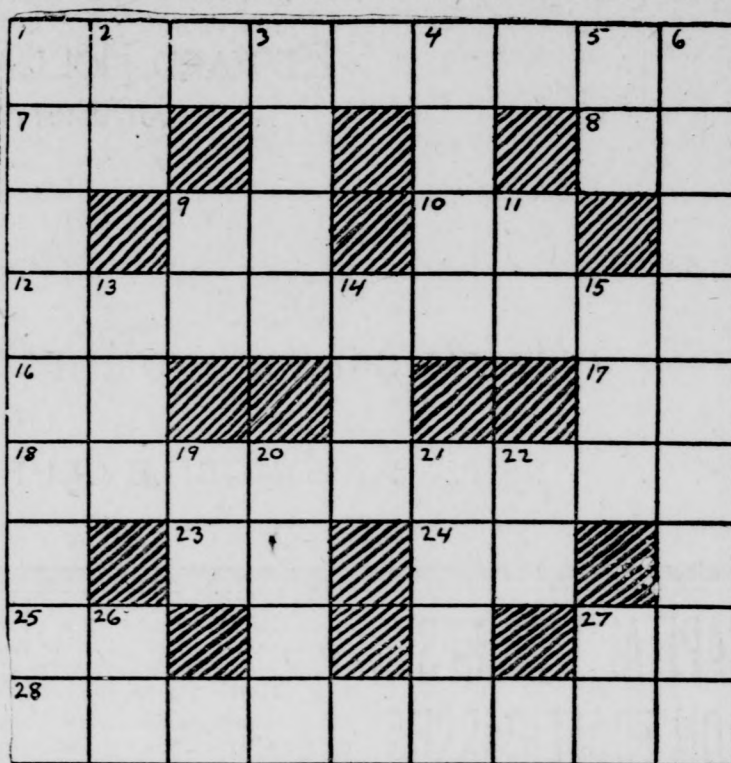

"To be sure!" said Mr. Haslitt a little absently.

Jim, however, had enthusiasm enough for both. His chivalry was fired, as it is the way with long-haired men, by the picture his imagination drew. The little girl, Betty Harlowe! What age was she? Twenty-one! Not a day more. She had been wandering with all the proud indifference of her sex and youth, until suddenly she found her feet caught in some trap set by a traitor, and looked about her; and terror came and with it a wild cry for help.

"Girls never notice danger signals," he said. "No, they walk blindly into the very heart of catastrophe." Who could tell what links of false and cunning evidence Boris Waberski had been hammering away at in the dark, to slip swiftly at the right moment over her wrist and ankle? And with that question he was

CROSS WORD PUZZLE

COMPILED FOR GLENDALE EVENING NEWS READERS
Copyright, 1925, By The George Matthew Adams Service

HOW TO SOLVE THE CROSS WORD PUZZLE
The way to solve the Cross Word Puzzle is to fill in the white squares of the diagram with the words which agree with the accompanying definitions. The definitions are numbered to correspond with the numbers on the diagram.

Any word defined in the text under "HORIZONTAL" will begin at its number, shown on the diagram, and will extend all the way across to the first black space to the right of that number. That is, the word must begin in the square that contains its identifying number, and extend as far as the white squares continue uninterrupted.

Any word defined under "VERTICAL" will also begin in the white square that contains its number, but will extend downward as far as the white squares remain uninterrupted.

HONOR GLENDALE AT P-T. A. MEET

Local Delegates To State Convention Praised For Work Here

Glendale was accorded honors at yesterday's session of California Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher associations, in convention at Fresno, when Mrs. A. H. Brown of Glendale, received special mention for her work as parliamentary officer of First District Parent-Teacher association, and parliamentary officer for Glendale Federation, Parent-Teacher association.

Another honor for Glendale was the recognition given of the development of reading circle work around the nucleus of Glendale Mutual Benefit Reading Circle, of which Mrs. H. V. Henry is chairman. As chairman of home study for First District Parent-Teacher association, Mrs. Henry has been highly complimented.

Mrs. O. H. Spradling, president of Glendale Federation, P-T. A., in a telegram to The Glendale Evening News today says:

"The keynote of the convention is, 'The home must take unto itself some of the burdens of training and character building now delegated to schools.' Education for parenthood is being stressed at the convention."

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE RED STONE bit boys or girls with him this time, as he was in a hurry.

"I will take them adventuring with me when I get back," said Mr. Longears. On his way home with the sugar, Uncle Wiggily saw something red gleaming in the grass near the brook, as he hopped along with the bag of sugar. "Perhaps that's a big, wild strawberry," thought the bunny. "If it's too wild I'll tame it by sprinkling sugar on its stem."

But it wasn't a strawberry, gleaming red amid the green grass. It was far too large for that.

"It's a big, red stone!" cried Uncle Wiggily, picking it up. "A big red stone, like an apple," and, truly, the stone did look just like that—a red, rosy cheeked apple. "I'll take it home and play a trick on Nurse Jane," said Mr. Longears with a chuckle. "I'll tell her it's a red apple, and when she tries to peel it she will find it's nothing but a hard stone."

Putting the smooth, red rock in his pocket, the bunny gentleman hopped to his hollow stump bungalow. He gave Nurse Jane the sugar to make the jolly, laughing buns, but before he could take out the red stone, Tingle, one of the little boy rabbits, put his paw in his daddy's coat pocket and pulled out the red stone. Daddy Uncle Wiggily often brought lollypops home for the little bunnies, so they were in the habit of looking through his pockets.

"Oh, see what I found!" cried Tingle, holding it up. "A big, red apple! Oh, may I have it, Daddy?" Before Uncle Wiggily could answer, Tingle started to take a bite of what he thought was an apple. But his teeth gritted on the hard stone. "Oh, what a funny apple!" he cried.

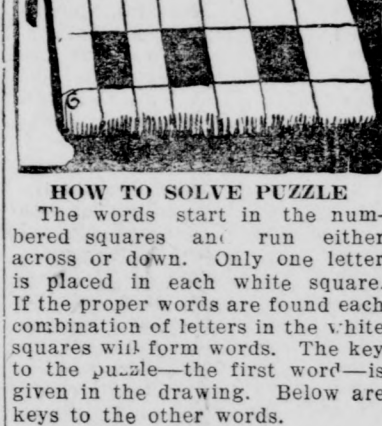

"Don't bite it any more or you'll break your teeth!" warned Uncle Wiggily. "That's a red stone I found to play a joke on Nurse Jane with. Wait now, I'll put some sugar on this stone and maybe our muskrat lady housekeeper will think it's a candy apple."

So Mr. Longears spread some sugar on the red stone, and set it on the table. Then, while the little boy and girl rabbits waited, holding their paws over their mouths so they wouldn't laugh and spoil the joke, Uncle Wiggily went out in the kitchen to call in Nurse Jane.

But while he was gone, the Woozie Wolf jumped in through an open window of the bungalow, for he saw many tender little rabbits in the room.

"I'll have something to eat!" howled the Wolf. And then, seeing the sugared red stone on the table, he thought it was something good, and he cried: "I'll take this candy apple first! Then I'll have some tender little rabbits!" He made a big bite at the apple, but as it was a hard, red stone, of course the Wolf broke off a lot of his teeth. "Zoopee! Zoopee!" he howled, as he jumped out of the window and ran away. "Fooled again!" he growled.

Of course then it was of no use to try and play a joke on Nurse Jane with the red stone for an apple. And the muskrat lady laughed when she heard about it. But the bunny gentleman was glad he had found the red stone for it frightened away the Wolf. The little bunnies liked the jolly, laughing buns very much. And if the rubber ball doesn't squirt water in the eye of the needle and make it blink, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the silver arrow.

HOW TO SOLVE PUZZLE

The words start in the numbered squares and run either across or down. Only one letter is placed in each white square. If the proper words are found each combination of letters in the white squares will form words. The key to the puzzle—the first word is given in the drawing. Below are keys to the other words.

Running Across
Word 1. The first appearance of the sun in the morning.
Word 5. The ropes and chains that are attached to the masts and spars of vessels.
Word 6. A dish. Also a position on a baseball team.

Running Down
Word 1. What you like to have on pan cakes.
Word 2. Opposite of day.
Word 3. What people from Ireland are called.
Word 4. Earnest; keenly desirous.

Eighty Jap Schools In Honolulu Protest Tax

HONOLULU, May 14.—Eighty Japanese language schools were closed here today pending the filing of an injunction to prevent the school department from enforcing an amendment recently passed by the territorial Legislature requiring an annual fee of $1 per pupil. The amendment also provided for a fine of $25 for failure to comply with the fee provision. The schools were considered by the school department to have ceased to function.

CAR LINE TO SPEED UP SERVICE

Glendale-Montrose Road To Put On Extra Cars
In Rush Hours

A new train schedule, giving more adequate service on its Los Angeles run, will be inaugurated by the Glendale-Montrose railway starting tomorrow. Between the hours of 6:30 and 9:30 o'clock in the morning, special cars will meet the Glendale-Montrose cars at Glendale Junction to transport passengers into downtown Los Angeles without any loss of time at the transfer point. From 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon until 7 at night, it is proposed to operate cars over the Glendale-Montrose line to Glendale Junction on a twenty-minute schedule instead of every half hour, Preston L. Hatch, manager, announced.

The new service will be tried out for a period of sixty days, Manager Hatch said, and in the event that sufficient patronage is given the line under the improved schedule, the service will be continued indefinitely.

Kewpie Doll Crashes Girl's War Romance

SALEM, Mass., May 14.—The war romance of James M. Connolly, of Lynn, an accountant, and his pretty young wife, Elizabeth, has been shattered by a kewpie doll.

Mrs. Connolly admitted in probate court that she struck her husband with the doll. They were married when Connolly, a member of the Yankee Division, returned from France. His wife was 16 years old at the time.

That her husband carries a scar on his nose, as evidence of her marksmanship, was admitted by Mrs. Connolly to Attorney John W. Morgan, counsel for her husband. According to the wife, the family troubles culminated last November, when she left him because she couldn't stand his arguments. She says he struck her twice during their married life.

WILL CONTEST IS PLANNED BY WIDOW

Mrs. Thomas Hale, 84, Who Lives In Glendale, To Fight Bequest

Although reported to have been cut off with only $1 under the terms of her late husband's will, probated Monday in San Francisco, Mrs. Thomas H. Hale, past 84 years of age, who is in ill health at the home of her daughter, Mrs. H. B. Gardner, 339 West Doran street, denies that she deserted her husband, and states that she received maintenance from her husband's estate from the time of his death, May 18, 1924, and that her lawyers are engaged in preparations to contest the will, recently probated.

"The statement that my mother deserted Mr. Hale is untrue," Mrs. Gardner emphatically declared this morning. "Mr. Hale was her second husband. They had been married fifteen years. He was some years her junior. Both of them were ill and mother was unable to care for him. They separated the first of January, 1924. They were here in Glendale for a time and finally Mr. Hale was taken to San Francisco, where he was placed in a sanitarium. A young woman, who was adopted by my father and mother, lives in San Francisco, and she and her family have been friendly to Mr. Hale.

Under Nurse's Care

"Mr. Hale had evidently been told that mother had deserted him and was influenced by this to make the will that he did. Both Mr. Hale and mother were along in years and in ill health and it was necessary for me to keep mother with me in order that she could be properly cared for. She is under the care of a nurse all the time. Mr. Hale's health was equally as poor and it was necessary for him to have sanitarium care."

"My mother has received maintenance from his estate since his death, and as for his will, our lawyers are now preparing to contest it."

PRaise REPORT OF LEAGUE MEETING

Compliment Evening News
On Impartial, Unbiased
Story On Bonds

The Glendale Evening News is in receipt of two communications praising this newspaper for its fair and impartial report of the meeting of the Glendale Municipal league last Monday night, at which the proposed city school bond issue was discussed.

One communication is from H. V. Adams, the president of the league; the other is from John S. Knox, who participated in the meeting. Further, J. R. Grey, who also participated in the meeting, personally expressed to The Glendale Evening News his appreciation of the impartial report, saying that "The Glendale Evening News was the only newspaper to inform the people of Glendale of the details of the league meeting." The letter from President Adams follows:

"Editor The Evening News:—I want to thank you for the fair and impartial report which your paper gave of the meeting of the Glendale Municipal league on Monday, May 11.

"You, H. V. Adams, President, "Glendale Municipal League."

Another Letter of Thanks

The letter from John S. Knox follows in full:

"Editor The Evening News:—I am surprised to note from your issue of yesterday that some members of the school board's committee of fifteen are displeased with your account of the discussion of school affairs at the municipal league meeting Monday night, May 11.

"I was an interested and attentive listener to all that was said at that meeting and I think your representative made a remarkably fair and accurate report of the proceedings.

"The municipal league is pledged to secure for the taxpayers of Glendale information regarding the collection and spending of public money by the school boards. It must, therefore, give to those who oppose bond issues, an equal hearing with those who favor them, and the impartial rulings of the chairman of the recent meeting were in strict accord with the principles and purposes of the league.

Luncheon Today

Herman Webe, Americanization teacher in the Burbank High school; L. T. Rowley, social service worker in the Glendale city school system and Norman Whytock, principal of the Glendale Intermediate school, spoke on Americanization in public schools, at today's meeting of Glendale Roundtable club. The club met at the Egyptian Village cafe.

Professor Whytock quoted from the report of a recent survey made in Glendale schools showing that 97.94 per cent of the students are white. This accounts for the absence of racial problems in the local schools, he said. The survey showed, according to Professor Whytock, that 5,133 children attending the schools are white; seventeen are Mexican, seventeen Japanese, one negro and one Chinese.

A failure to establish a sympathetic understanding between the pupils and teacher in Americanization classes was declared to be the main source of difficulty in that sort of work, by Professor Webe. He urged teaching the spirit of Americanization in such courses.

Reports were given at the meeting today by Mr. Rowley for the executive committee and by L. C. Ross. The club voted to make Tuesday its permanent meeting day. Dr. L. L. Cravens presided. Dr. Joseph Marple led community singing.

Gas Tank Leak Puts Pasadena in 'Horror'

PASADENA, May 14.—A lake of gasoline on the Santa Fe railway tracks near here today, caused by breaking a valve on a 10,000 gallon gasoline tank car, causing the halting of all traffic, including trans-continental trains. While a cordon of police and firemen, who feared an explosion, was thrown around the lake, the gasoline was drained away. Traffic was resumed after several hours' delay.

TRAIN DERAILED

MONCTON, N. D., May 14.—Passengers on the St. John & Halifax express had a narrow escape from death and serious injury today when all the cars of the train were derailed four miles east of Sackville on the main line. The express, mail and baggage car and the colonists car plunged down an embankment. Only one passenger was slightly injured.

CLEAN UP DRIVE

LOS ANGELES, May 14.—A clean-up drive on real estate lottery games, operation in a coupon land raffle system at Los Angeles theatres, was launched today. Warrants were issued for the arrest of Harry Goldman and Sam Gordon, connected with a real estate firm, on charges of obtaining money under false pretenses.

'TIRED OF LIVING'

SANTA BARBARA, May 14.—The body of George Derrickson, 65, well-known Santa Barbara contractor, was found floating in the sea near the end of a pier here early today. A note left on a pile of clothing nearby, believed by police to be in Derrickson's handwriting, read, "simply tired of living."

DYNAMITERS IN LAST GAME HERE

Glendale Meets Covina On Broadway Field Friday As Season Ends

By ROSS M. RUSSELL, JR.
Of The Evening News Staff.
Glendale's final redemption chance on the diamond comes tomorrow when the Red and Black Dynamiters meet the pelota-tossing nine from out Covina way in the final tilt of the 1923 Central league schedule on Broadway field at 8:30 o'clock.

At the present time the locals stand third in the league and the Colts are tied for fourth place with the Wildcats whom they play next Tuesday to run off the game which was postponed a week or so ago.

Judging from the showings made against Alhambra, the champion of the league, the two teams are about on par, the Moors beat each outfit with a one run margin. Tomorrow the Dynamiters will be out for blood, their disastrous defeat last Friday was not so good and they have been reaping their tricks during the week so as to be in fit trim for the Colts tomorrow.

Smith On Mound
Charley Smith, who was all off form last Friday, but who should be going his best on the mound against Covina, will probably start. If Charley fails Bill Brooke and "Hull" Jensen will be available. Elmer Muff, the old sure-fire backstop, will again handle the slants of the local twirlers. While he is not in the box Bill Brooke will cavort around first. Johnny Lovell with the help of Hank Clark at short will take care of the keystone sack while Ray Doll on the hot corner completes the infield. Charley Ardo in left, Peter Thompson in center, and Fred Smith in right comprise the trio of agriculturists who take care of the gardening work in the outfield.

Wine will probably pitch for the Covina boys. This is his third and last year with the Colts and last season he was rated as one of the best twirlers in the league. The Glendale batsmen will have to step fast if they expect to swell their batting averages to a healthy degree when they face the Covina strong boy.

The Central league standings follow:

Team	W.	L.	Pct.
Alhambra	4	0	1.000
Covina	3	1	.750
Glendale	2	2	.500
Covina	1	2	.333
Monrovia	1	2	.333
So. Pasadena	0	4	.000

Games Tomorrow
Covina at Glendale.
So. Pasadena at Monrovia.
Citrus at Alhambra.

BOWLING SCORES

TWILIGHT LEAGUE FORMED FOR YEAR

Glendale Evening News Is Named Official Paper; 8 Teams On List

By A. S. HALL
Of The Evening News Staff.
The Glendale Twilight league was officially organized last night when team captains and managers, representing the eight organizations in the league, held a meeting at the Harvard High school gymnasium. The two games played this week, the Firemen and Radios on Monday night, and the Hull Trucks and Calla Lily teams on Tuesday, will stand as part of the schedule, it was determined, as will the game tonight between the Postoffice employees and the Public Service team.

N. C. Hayhurst, coach at the Glendale Union High school, was named president of the league. He served in the same capacity during the Glendale Merchants basketball season. Ground rules were adopted, and plans for a schedule discussed. The official ball to be used was adopted.

Eight teams will comprise the league, and two rounds, or fourteen weeks, will be played. The winners of the first round will meet the winners of the second round for the championship of the league, and in the event the winner of the first and second round is the same team, the contest will be between the leaders and the team which stands second for the entire season. Members of the championship team will receive gold baseball charms.

In recognition of the service rendered sport organizations in Glendale, and its full and complete sports service, The Glendale Evening News was designated as the official newspaper of the league in which box scores, standings, schedules and all matters pertaining to the league will be published. The eight teams in the league are: Firemen, composed of members of the Glendale fire department; Hull Trucks; Radios; Postoffice employees; Public Service, composed of employees of the telephone company; Glendale Creamery; Calla Lily creamery and Christian church.

The Glendale Creamery and Postoffice, scheduled for yesterday, will meet some time next week and play off the game which was postponed on account of wet grounds. The Postoffice employees and the Public Service team meet tonight at the Broadway High school grounds.

The majority of captains and managers were in favor of using the diamond at the Broadway High school in preference to the diamond at the Harvard High school, and all games in the league schedule will be played at the Broadway grounds, unless otherwise announced. All games must start at 5:30 o'clock and must end by 7 o'clock.

A. S. Hall, of The Evening News staff sport department, was named secretary of the league, and official scorer.

MERCHANTS PLAY PAINTERS AGAIN

Second Contest Of Three-Game Series Sunday At Brookside Park

The second game of the three-game series between the Glendale Merchants and Pasadena Painters, which opened last Sunday at the local ball park, will be played next Sunday at Brookside park, Pasadena. The opening game was won by the Crown City crew, partially due to the fact that the local team was shy its stellar pitcher.

Jack Emerson, who hurled a number of good games for the White Sox during the summer season, is scheduled to take the mound next Sunday against the Pasadena team. Other players in the lineup will be Fanest, H. Doll, "Pep" Kerwin, Acosta and several others known to Glendale fans.

The location of the third and deciding game has not been selected, but it is probable it will be played on neutral grounds. Members of the Merchants today denied persistent rumors that M.

JOHN B. FOSTER'S VIEWS

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1923.
NEW YORK, May 14.—Most ball players, if they could round into the third week in May with a batting average around .431, would think they were hitting 'em pretty good. But not so Rogers Hornsby, who has just concluded a series here with his fellow members of the St. Louis Nationals.

"How's the batting?" the writer asked Hornsby shortly before the Cards struck camp in Gotham. "Tolerable—but I haven't got hold of one right this spring," replied the most famous member of Branch Rickey's clan. He stuck to that story despite the fact that he had just rapped out a home run and despite the fact that he stood just one round from the top of the National league batting list.

"How do I tell when I am getting hold of 'em right? Shucks, you can tell in your grip when you get right into 'em and when you don't. When you really meet a ball on the nose and the old ash in your hand feels like a fairy wand, you know you've been up to the plate."

"This team isn't within twenty points of where it ought to be batting. I ought to be hitting 500 myself, the way they are throwing them up to me, but I am a little slow getting hold of 'em. George Sisler, of the Browns, seems to be having a pretty good time batting again. I'll keep along with him if I don't have an accident. He may lead the left handers and I may lead the right handers before the season is over."

"Is the pitching better or worse this year?" Hornsby was asked. "Both. Some better, some worse. Take 'em all together and I'd say that nothing much has been handed out yet, except here and there in the cases of youngsters of whom you can't be just sure. We've got one. This young Rhem. When that boy gets going he will stake his way through the National league all right. And we've got a couple of kid left-handers that are likely to do their part."

Hornsby says that this is the best recent Cardinal team with which he has played, and it may turn out to be the best of all his vintage. He won't bet on it because he doesn't believe in the demoralizing influence of the gambling mania, but he stands ready to buy sodas for everybody in sight if the Cards don't finish with a better showing than they did last year.

"If some of the rest of these second division clubs get going right," he added, "I'm not so sure that the Giants will make their fifth consecutive pennant year. I'm not sure any how. And we won't be over as soon as some people think."

"Will I bat 400 this season?" Honest, if I begin to get hold of 'em right, I don't know what I will bat, because I have a sort of hunch that this is a batting year. You notice that all the hitters in both leagues are going some. When they start this early they don't stop."

As for Hornsby himself, the writer has never seen him so full of buoyancy and exhilaration as he is this season. But it isn't because the Cards trained in California. Hornsby insists, Golden state boosters to the contrary notwithstanding.

Hornsby was born in Texas and he maintains his form would be even better if he had trained down San Antonio way.

XXIV—After Milk Diet

It is natural that those who have been benefited by the milk diet should desire to retain all the advantages thus gained and keep on climbing up the hill of health.

My experience demonstrates that not only are the benefits gained under this diet large and gratifying, but their permanency is entirely in the hands of the individual.

There is one important thing which I wish fully to impress upon the minds of my readers who think of taking the milk diet, it is this, it very often occurs that people have to wait until order of habits and diet are resumed before they realize to the full all that the milk diet has accomplished for them.

In other words, the good effect does not cease when one stops taking the milk. It is something like an engine on a track, start it and get it going, well in a certain direction and then shut off the steam, and if you do not apply the brake, it will run several miles before it will stop. The milk diet seems to do the same thing.

If one is wise and thoughtful enough to live naturally and reasonably, then there is no putting on the brake, and the result is increased power and vigor as the days go by. The circulation is more active, the digestion more nearly perfect, and all bodily functions work normally and easily.

All that is necessary now, to keep and retain these blessings of health is to live in accordance with the principles advocated in these writings. Eat properly, avoiding complexity of foods and varied menus. Each person must decide for himself whether to eat one, two or three meals a day and whether he will be a vegetarian, live on a nut and fruit diet, eat only natural foods "or live as other people do and in time smash your ship of health on the rocks of disease."

SPORT CHATTER

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service

NEW YORK, May 14.—From present indications citizens to the number of 70,000 will converge on the Yankee stadium on May 23 for the McTigue-Berlenbach world's light heavyweight championship fight and the everlasting benefit of New York's milkless babies. They, the citizens, are and will be imbued with the perverse idea that the proper caper is to weep at a wedding and dance at a wake. They expect to dance.

Odds of 7 to 5 were being offered at Broadway today that Berlenbach will lift the title and give life to a division hitherto defunct. There were no takers because Broadway turned thumbs down on McTigue long ago and wants no financial interest in his immediate welfare.

It wants to see McTigue and his title banished forever from the minds of men, so that Berlenbach and other rising young men of the ring may carry on with a program that will make the light heavyweight class the most active and popular on the fist list.

If Berlenbach becomes champion, he will be re-matched with Jack Delaney and the winner of that frolic tossed in with Jimmy Slattery who will come of age in August and promptly take the position his ability deserves—one of the leading big men of the ring today.

Everything, even the success of Tex Rickard's entire summer program hangs upon the facility, or lack of same, with which Berlenbach hangs upon McTigue's jaw. However, it might be mentioned that McTigue has not been knocked out in a career covering upward of 110 fights.

For the sake of keeping the record straight, it might be mentioned that McTigue, the only one-punch man in boxing, has scored twenty-one knockouts in twenty-four fights.

What, professor, happens, when an irresistible force meets an immovable body? The answer will be given in the Yankee stadium on May 29.

DEBUT UNSUCCESSFUL

The debut of Pitcher Ray Neff held the Reds to only one hit and the Giants won 3 to 0. The champions are now 4½ games in front.

London women now favor long tresses.

JACK CARR WINS OVER BENNY DIAZ

Glendale Fighter Makes Big Hit At San Fernando; Borden Gets Draw

Jack Carr of Glendale cracked a hard nut when he got the decision over Benny Diaz after ten rounds of top speed mulling at the San Fernando coliseum last night. Carr had Diaz out on his feet several times and once knocked him through the ropes. Diaz caught Carr in a corner several times and handed him a severe wallop. But it was Carr's fight most of the way and the record would have read a win by a K. O. had he followed up his advantage when he had Benny in distress. It was a whale of a fight and pleased the crowd with a collection of wild swings including a big delegation from Glendale.

Young Ford, a negro, went ten rounds with Jim Barry, the decision going to the latter. Ford started well, displaying considerable knowledge of boxing, but Barry was too strong for him and, with a collection of wild swings and a willingness to mix it, wore the colored boy down.

Borden Given Draw
Chuck Borden of Glendale and Teddy Adams battled six rounds to what the referee said was a draw. Chuck should have had the decision, according to the crowd. To those outside the ring it looked like the Glendale lad won by a mile and under wraps. Connie Bell and Kid Bell, not brothers, offered the opener of four rounds, the verdict going to Connie.

James Slick of Glendale, announced by Ken S. Browning, owner of the coliseum, as the club's new matchmaker, was presented and did the announcing. He made a very favorable impression with the fans. He promised classy cards for every Wednesday night and, no doubt, the shows will draw many fans from Glendale and this vicinity.

As an extra attraction last night two Japanese staged a wooden sword duel that was a scream. The fans indicated they would like to see the Japs in a return engagement. The entire program was well conducted and put over in a snappy way, promising well for the future under Manager Slick's direction.

Schoell Lucky To Get Draw With F. Denny

OAKLAND, May 14.—Frankie Schoell of Buffalo, N. Y., coast welter champion, was considered a very lucky man today to have earned a draw in his ten round bout here last night with Frankie Denny of Oakland. It was a live-ship fight throughout with the Oakland fighter leading the way up to the eighth round. In this frame Schoell came to suddenly and landed a terrific blow to Denny's jaw, knocking the latter to the canvas for a count of nine. The first two rounds were tame, both men trying each other out.

The fight was a very vicious attack that lasted well into the fifth round. The next three frames were Schoell's by a narrow margin, while the last two were his beyond a doubt. The fight was considered the best in Denny's career.

WANT SHAKE-UP

PHOENIX, Ariz., May 14.—Alumni of the University of Arizona today launched a drive for a shake-up in the athletic department, announcing they would call on President C. H. Marvin. They will ask that J. F. McKale, football coach here for eleven years, be made athletic director and that two football coaches be obtained. Pacific coast coaches are being considered for the position and assistant coaches at the University of Southern California, Stanford and California are most prominently mentioned.

YANKS WHITEWASHED

"No hit" Charley Robertson whitewashed the Yanks, limiting them to three bingles and six fouls. Only two New York players reached second and they died of lonesomeness. Score 4 to 0.

DODGERS WIN GAME

Ed Brown did a Frank Merriwell with the bases full and the ensuing four runs enabled the Dodgers to outlast the Cardinals 9 to 8.

ONLY ONE HIT

The ancient soup bone of Artie Neff held the Reds to only one hit and the Giants won 3 to 0. The champions are now 4½ games in front.

CITY PRINTING

NOTICE OF FILING LIST OF UNPAID ASSESSMENTS

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that on the 8th day of May, 1923, the Street Superintendent of the City of Glendale filed with the Clerk of the Council of said City a list of all unpaid assessments for the improvement of portions of Canada Boulevard, San Gabriel Avenue, Verdugo Canon Road, Santa Barbara Avenue, Santa Paula Place, Santa Barbara Avenue, Sombra Drive, Willow Drive, Santa Maria Avenue and Country Club Drive, all as more particularly described in Resolution of Intention No. 2499, passed by the Council of the City of Glendale on the 13th day of July, 1924, reference to which is hereby made for a description of said work.

NOTICE IS ALSO GIVEN that Thursday, the 21st day of May, 1923, at 10 o'clock A. M. in the Council Chamber of the City of Glendale, is fixed as the day, hour and place when and where all persons interested may appear before the Council of said City and show cause, if any they have, why bonds should not be issued upon the security of the unpaid assessments shown on said list.

Clerk's office this 8th day of May, 1923.

A. J. VAN WIE,
City Clerk of the City of Glendale.

City Council Opposed To Los Feliz Subway

petition will be filed within the next few days, Morrow said.

Improve Alleys

Improvement of alleys between Maryland and Louise streets from Harvard to Wilson streets and between Wilson and Broadway from Louise to Maryland streets with four-inch asphaltic concrete was ordered, and City Engineer Johannsen was instructed to draft the necessary proceedings.

For permission to erect a sign at 500 North San Fernando road, struck a snag in the council when there was no second to Councilman Kinch's motion that the permit be granted.

There were no arguments against granting the permit. The councilmen remained silent while Building Superintendent H. C. Vandewater announced that the permit must be issued unless public safety prevents it. A suggestion was made that the matter be referred to committee of the whole.

"Why refer it to the committee of the whole?" asked Kinch. "Do we want to hide everything?"

Mayor H. G. MacBain said he favored granting the permit.

"I move that it be continued for one week, to keep it out of committee of the whole," said Kinch. His motion carried.

Sign on Hotel

A permit was granted to construct an electric sign atop the Glendale hotel.

Petition to improve Lake street with four-inch solid concrete was referred back to the petitioners because of a clause that prohibits the improvement if the cost exceeds the value of the property. City Engineer Johannsen said it would probably cost from 15 to 16 cents a square foot.

"It is not a good precedent to set a limit on the cost when the actual price would probably be so close to the limit," said City Manager V. B. Stone.

Councilman Kimlin introduced an amendment to an ordinance increasing the maximum punishment for persons convicted of being drunk and disorderly to $500 and six months in the county jail, from $100 fine and fifty days in the county jail. The amendment was presented at the request of Police Judge F. H. Lowe.

Donation of $50 from Mack Sennett was placed in the firemen's relief fund. Sennett recently used the fire hall at station No. 1 as a background for a picture. The city also received $50 for a permit from Sennett.

DRACH ROOM ESTABLISHED FOR SHRINE

Hahn Auditorium To Serve As Glendale Center For Conclave Members

Hahn auditorium, 103-A North Brand boulevard, will be the Glendale headquarters of Shrines from all over the United States during the Shrine convention to be held in Los Angeles June 1 to 6, it was announced today following a meeting last night of the Glendale Shrine club.

Local Shrines have volunteered to furnish automobiles to drive visiting Shrines about the city.

Headed by P. J. Hayselden, the club plans a dinner to be held Wednesday night at 6:30 o'clock at the Egyptian Village cafe. Additional plans for activities during the convention will be made at that time.

On Saturday night Glendale Shrines will meet at the Masonic Temple at 6 o'clock to go in a body to attend a general Shrine session at the Ambassador hotel in Los Angeles. Plans for decorating the city and for placing Shrine stickers on auto windshields also were made last night.

BOYS' WORK TOPIC AT ROTARY LUNCH

Superintendent of Schools R. D. White Tells Clubmen About Their Sons

"Boys' Work" was the topic of the luncheon program at today's luncheon meeting of the Glendale Rotary club in the Tuesday afternoon clubhouse. President Paul Stillman called on Chairman Arthur D. Dibernon of the boys' work committee, who in turn asked Richardson D. White, superintendent of city schools, to tell of his experience with boys.

It is impossible by introspection to know how a boy of 12 feels. He urged fathers to read the book, "The Job of Being a Dad." Boys look up to their fathers at that adolescent age, the speaker declared. As they grow out of that age the schools endeavor to teach the youngsters formal things, such as the multiplication tables and other subjects necessary to his later education.

Careers begin—criminal or otherwise—in the adolescent age, and the speaker had high praise for Boy Scout work in leading the youth into successful careers.

There is greater service Rotary can render than making real men of the boys, he added, saying: "We should think of the boy as a gift of God."

Visitors Are Listed

The list of visiting Rotarians included Charles A. Gunn, Shanghai, China; J. Will Johnson, Pueblo, Colo.; Rev. Leon H. Austin and Bert Cross, Burbank; Rudy Gunzel, J. A. Farnsworth, Jr., Sam J. Brown, James E. Shelton, J. B. Magee, Otto G. Wilder, Gen. Ad. Gunnerson, Ernest F. Bent, Carl Christensen, Tom A. Dille and Don H. Fry, Los Angeles. John Parkinson, architect of Los Angeles, also was introduced as a guest.

R. Ernest Tucker led the club in songs which were greatly enjoyed. William Hunter presented President Stillman with a "tin fish" while others were "paying" for their fishing experiences. Much good-natured raillery featured today's session.

John T. Cate told of Glendale club members putting on a program Wednesday for the Van Nuys club, recently organized, which meets at Encino Country club.

MAY WEDDING

Mrs. Mary Alice Powell and Benjamin W. Charlesworth, both of Decoto, Calif., were married last night, Wednesday, May 13, 1923, at 6 o'clock, at the home of Mrs. Barbara E. Swain of 332 West Myrtle street. Rev. H. C. Mullen, pastor of Pacific Avenue Methodist church, officiated. Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Amick of Los Angeles witnessed the ceremony.

CLEAN-UP ORDER

Glendale property owners today were urged by City Engineer J. F. Johannsen to clean up vacant lots and premises of buildings because of the large number of conventions that are scheduled in Southern California during the present summer. He urged that work start immediately to be finished before the beginning of the Shrine convention June 1 to 6.

MINOR OPERATION

Lester Jones of 919 East Lexington drive underwent a tonsillectomy operation this morning at Glendale Research hospital.

JACK'S WIFE SICK

LONDON, May 14.—Because of his wife's illness, Jack Dempsey, American heavyweight champion, postponed his scheduled departure from England today for Paris.

Judge Olson To Push Fight Against Couple

CHICAGO, May 14.—The announced determination of Judge Harry Olson, "counsel for the dead," to prove both Mr. and Mrs. William D. Shepherd guilty of the alleged murders of Mrs. Emma McClintock and her son, Billy, Shepherd's millionaire ward, remained unaffected today by the grand jury's voting of a "no bill" yesterday on the coroner's jury's recommendation that the woman be held as an accessory.

"We've just begun to fight," said Sands Olson, the judge's son, who was "temporarily holding the fort" while his father is out of town on a speaking engagement.

"The first case of my father prosecuted as state's attorney was one in which a 'no bill' had been voted. He fought it through, however, to a hanging verdict."

ROCKEFELLER GIRL MARRIES LAWYER

Miss Abby Becomes Bride of New York Attorney In Blaze of Splendor

NEW YORK, May 14.—Miss Abby Rockefeller, daughter of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and heiress to what probably is the largest family fortune in the world, and David Meriwether Milton, young lawyer, were married at the Rockefeller mansion here this afternoon.

The bride and bridegroom will sail Saturday for a four months' honeymoon in Europe.

Among the collection of more than a thousand wedding gifts laid out in the Rockefeller home today was a necklace of pearls, the gift of John D. Rockefeller to his granddaughter.

John D. Rockefeller, direct and collateral members of the family of which he is the head, and some forty relatives and members of the Milton family witnessed the bridal ceremony.

Rev. Dr. Cornelius Woolfink, retiring pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church, officiated. Ellen Milton and Albert Fink Milton, sister and brother of the groom, were bridesmaids and best man.

John D. Arrives

The arrival of John D. himself in a hurried tour of car in which he made the trip from Tarrytown, created quite a stir. Newspaper photographers gathered to catch him alighting from the car and the crowd outside the Rockefeller residence pushed up, only to be pushed back by mounted police.

While police kept throngs back and guided the limousines of the wealthy in the vicinity of the Rockefeller home just off upper Fifth avenue, a simple ceremony sent the young couple on their married life which they plan to keep for the time being at least, within the modest limits of the bridegroom's modest earnings.

The Rockefeller home was richly decorated despite the simplicity of the marriage ceremony.

FILM 'WAR' GETS HOT WITH ROMOR

W. Hays Reported On Way To Convention; Fighting 'Big Three Trust'

MILWAUKEE, May 14.—The convention of the Motion Picture Producers and Exhibitors was a hot bed of rumor today as secret sessions at which the "war plans" against the "big three" were discussed.

There was a persistent report that word had been received from Carl Laemmle of the Universal interests that he was ready to ally himself with the independents. Gossip around the convention hotel also had it that Will Hays, movie "czar" who the independents plan to oppose with a leader such as Charles Evans Hughes or General John J. Pershing, was en route to Milwaukee and would speak here for the "big three."

The open sessions of the convention today were confined to routine business.

Dick Barthelmess And Wife, Mary Hay, Part

NEW YORK, May 14.—Richard Barthelmess, screen star, and Mary Hay, dancer, who have been married since 1920, have decided to execute a civil separation agreement.

Miss Hay said no divorce was contemplated and the separation was the result of a "mutual understanding." She said she was sailing for Europe in a few weeks to fill dancing engagements.

Mary Hay Barthelmess, their two-year-old daughter, will be in custody of each parent six months a year.

PARENT-TEACHER MEET IN FUREOR

Fresno Convention Members Deny Erroneous Report Sent Over Country

FRESNO, May 14.—A furore resulted today among the six hundred delegates of the California Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher associations in annual convention here as a result of erroneous reports sent out regarding the change in convention voted last night.

It resulted in an explanation being given the convention today by the president, Mrs. H. B. Bradford of Sacramento, of the necessity for the 103,000 members of the state to line up with the parent organization in the matter of membership requirements. This, it was declared, was entirely acceptable to practically all of the California group.

SANTA CRUZ MAN GETS I.O.O.F. HEAD

Retiring Deputy Is Named Grand Master of State At Annual Session

SAN FRANCISCO, May 14.—Emmet C. Rittenhouse of Santa Cruz, retiring deputy grand master, was elected to be grand master of the California Odd Fellows at the annual state meeting of the order here today.

Cyrus A. Palmer of Orange was elected deputy grand master. Palmer was the former grand warden. Other officers elected followed.

Grand secretary, U. S. G. Clifford, San Francisco, incumbent, re-elected; grand treasurer, James W. Harris, San Francisco, incumbent, re-elected; grand representative to the sovereign grand lodge meeting in Portland, Ore., next September, Lloyd Cohn, retiring grand master; grand trustees, John Glasson, Grass Valley; E. S. Black, San Francisco, and Joseph Foster, San Diego, all re-elected.

Fred E. Pierce, San Francisco, incumbent, was re-elected trustee of the Odd Fellows' home in Saratoga.

NURSES FLEE FIRE

BALTIMORE, May 14.—Nurses fled a panic today when fire broke out in the dispensary of Johns Hopkins University hospital. A. W. Badget, a pharmacist, was burned on the hands and Dr. Arthur J. Lomas, superintendent of the hospital was cut by flying glass.

TODAY'S GAMES

BOSTON, May 14.—Earl Smith, Pirate's catcher, helped to celebrate the Pittsburgh 7 to 1 victory over the Braves today by going into the grandstand during the eighth inning and punching a fan who he believed had been riding him. The fan, highly indignant, took off his glasses, jumped on the field and started after Smith. Umpire Rigler and several players separated the pair. Smith was banished from the game.

NEW YORK CLOSING

By W. S. COUSINS
For International News Service

NEW YORK, May 14.—Traders in the motor, oil and specialty stocks entered the market today on the selling side to take accumulated profits on stock which have been rising steadily for a week or more, while bearish traders were more persistent in "reaching for the top" in the same stocks.

Buying was not as pronounced as selling, and industrial leaders which reached higher levels in the early trading were unable to maintain that position.

Copper stocks responded in good form to the report of heavy consumption of the red metal and declines in surplus stocks above ground. American Smelting gained 2 points; Utah Copper was up 2; Anaconda, Chile, Inspiration and Kennecott up 1. The move in copper stocks failed to attract a following, and it was wound up almost as quickly as it came in. Then the market entered for a period of dullness in which industrial stocks were churned about without apparent changes in prices, with professional bears and bulls accounting for most of its activity.

Both the grain and cotton markets recovered sharply. May wheat advanced 6 cents a bushel in Chicago and July cotton gained about $1.50 a bale on the New York cotton exchange. Sterling exchange was quoted at $4.85 1/2, and most of the continental exchanges were steady, while Argentine exchange reacted from the peak attained in yesterday's violent advance. Commodity markets were unchanged.

A number of the high-priced specialties hung up high record prices for the day. The most notable included California Packing, up 3 points, to 113 1/2; Dupont at 150, the highest for the move; six industrials at 113 1/2; United Drug above $127, and United Fruit at 212.

The pools were very inactive and confined their efforts to a few of the specialty stocks, of which Spicer was the most prominent.

Stock sales today, 1,261,700 shares; bonds, $13,825,000.

MARKET SUMMARY

LOS ANGELES, May 14.—Western Pacific directors are scheduled to hold an early meeting for the purpose of declaring a cash dividend of $5 a share and 33 1-3 per cent stock dividend on combined common and preferred shares.

Willis-Overland also is scheduled for a meeting to consider the matter of $30 accumulated dividends for each share of that stock, a new high record having been set by earnings.

The United States Chamber of Commerce today reported that leading buyers of American goods for export were Great Britain, Canada, Germany, France, Japan, Cuba and Italy, in the order listed. Export trade in 1923 gained 10.24 per cent over 1922 and totaled $4,591,000,000 in round figures.

With public utilities enjoying prosperity and railroads displaying more confidence than in many years, President Frank Pettigell of the Los Angeles stock exchange is spreading optimism as sales grow daily larger.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, May 14.—The grain market, responding to the relief from uncertainty brought by the report of Secretary of Agriculture Jardine and to increased export demand, moved buoyantly upward today and closed higher. Wheat closed 2 @ 6 1/2c higher; corn, 5 @ 14 1/2c up, and oats, 3 @ 1/2c higher. Wheat led the way in the upturn from the start. Oats averaged higher with corn and wheat, but trade in this grain was small and featureless. Provisions closed about steady after a day of dull trading.

MASTER 'COPS' TO STUDY NEW LINGO

New York City Opens School For Student Police on Underwood Slang

By EDNA MARSHALL

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.

NEW YORK, May 14.—Slang and the lingo of the underworld may be barred in good society, but they've been raised to the dignity of a regular course of college study here, and a group of 550 students are now coddling their brains to master them.

More than a handful of college graduates, artists and writers—

students of Commissioner

Richard Enright's new police academy, designed to be "the West Point of the department"— are memorizing hundreds of street phrases, practicing the accent and inflection of citizens of the underworld, learning to converse with thugs on their own terms when they are graduated into the job of keeping New York safe from crime.

It is an odd change the old buildings of the college of the City of New York have been in recent months. Strange and uncouth sounds, guttural and nasal tones and hard-boiled accents will flow daily for the next few weeks from class rooms where

French, Spanish, Italian and the language of the classics lately filtered from the lips of undergraduates.

When Commissioner Enright announced his police school a few weeks back, he stated he hoped college graduates who want a steady income would join up to win the salary of $2500 paid to new patrolmen at the end of the year. They did. And now they're starting with the course in the "vernacular of the criminal" he has decided to require.

Underworld Sayings

Among the expressions the student policemen are memorizing and practicing as to accent are:

"Gun moll"—female pickpock-et or bandit.

"Gettin' the juice," or "getting burned"—being executed in the electric chair.

"Fanning a sucker"—investigating a victim's pockets to lo-

"Shorts," or "rattlers"—street cars.

"Up where you warble twice"—

Sing Sing.

"Done a finnan haddie in the house"—served five years in Danmora.

"Hop hog"—opium smoker.

The theory is that it might be more than helpful for policemen or detectives trailing pickpockets

to know the meaning of such words as "cannons"—revolvers—

"Gun moll"—and "fanning a sucker." If they can step up to the suspected ones and talk in their own language and tones as though a member of the gang, valuable information might be obtained.

FULLERTON, May 14.—C. C.

Clark's racing pigeon "King Solomon," is a game bird, although he didn't win his last race. Instead of arriving with others, the following day "King" arrived at the Clark place with a .22-calibre shot piercing his throat. He will likely live.

Police here are conducting a quiet investigation into the attempted

"firing" of the Seventh-day Adventist church here the first of the week. Two girls first noticed the smoke and turned in an alarm.

Quick response by the firemen saved the building.
